Duchess Named Grand Champion At Pennsylvania Holstein Show

Everett Newswanger
Editor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) - From the best in Pennsylvania, Penn-Gate Jed Duchess, surfaced as the grand champion Tuesday, at the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's fall championship show held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show. This beautiful, upstanding, homebred five-year-old was shown by Steve and Christine Wood from Penn Gate Farm at Littlestown. The winner is a Jed daughter out of Penn Gate B Star Duchess. Penn Gate was also named both premier breeder and premier exhibitor of the show.

The reserve grand champion was shown by Delmar and Larry Zimmerman from Walnut Hills Farm at Mifflin. Mu Ke Linjet Megan, the stylish senior three-year-old is a daughter of SunnyLodge Linjet out of Walnut Hills Strato Mid (red).

The spring heifer calf was named junior champion of the open show for Norkval Holsteins owned by Linda and Gerald Kisner, New Albany. This big, flashy calf, Norkval Storm Linnell took the eye of judge Norman Nabholz, West Union, IA, over all the other heifers in the show.

Brush-Creek-Vu BC Kasper ET, the fall heifer calf, was named reserve junior champion for Amanda Cessna, Everett.

In the Keystone Futurity show, Windy Knoll View Peggy ET won the class for James and Nina Burdette, Windy Knoll View Farm, Mercersburg. Futurity animals are entered as calves and keep progressing until they get to the this three-year-old class.

The total performance award went to Lyn Haver Leadman Lill owned by Oseeana Holsteins and Tri-Day Holsteins, Shippensburg. Lill had a record listed in the catalogue of 4y 305d 2x 41,271m 1,290f 1,179p.

Youth Show

In the youth show held along with the open show, Hickory Green B. Star Patty was grand champion for Scott Walton, Carlisle. Reserve grand champion

Blacky Rose Is Supreme

At press time Thursday, the supreme champion of all breeds was named at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show. And the winner is Blacky Rose of Briarcliffs, the grand champion Jersey for New Direction Jerseys, Elizabethtown. Waverly Farm, Fred Strouse, and Justin Burdette are also part owners of this prize Jersey. Classified 93, Blacky Rose has been 2nd at the '98 All-American in Louisville, and second in the 1999 Ohio Spring Show with honorable mention grand champion. She also has great production with 20,530m 5.38%f 4.2%p.

The reserve supreme champion was the grand champion Holstein, Crovalley Star Melinda, owned by Donald Alexander and Ernie Kueffner from Boonsboro, Maryland. Melinda is classified EX 94 and has production of 33,201m 1,384f 1,099p.

Itle In 1999 KILE Hall Of Fame

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Charles A. Itle, Farm Show Assistant Director and manager of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition will be honored as the 1999 Hall of Fame Winner for the Pennsylvania Livestock Association. His picture will be hung with the 29 previous winners of this prestigious award on the back wall of the small arena. Criteria used in choosing the Hall of Fame Winner includes contribution to the livestock industry, involvement with the association and contribution to the community.

Charles A. Itle, Farm Show director, is Hall of Fame winner.

Charlie's work ethic was well established as a young person being born and raised on a dairy and livestock farm near Loretto in Cambria County. Following his primary and secondary schooling, Charlie continued his education at St. Francis College. After one year he transferred to Penn State where he obtained his degree in Dairy Management. The military called and Charlie served in the Army Reserves before he began a career in Cooperative Extension. He worked in Crawford County and Centre County. In 1974, he accepted his position with the Pennsylvania Farm Show, which has been his employment ever since. In this position, he is responsible for the management of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition, the management of the All

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying interest was of a light and spotty nature. Offerings were usually in balance on all but breast items which were sharply discounted in an attempt to stimulate buyer interest Movement through most retail and distributive outlets was slow and disappointing. The market tone was extremely weak on breast items, generally steady on the balance.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally light at most plants. Offerings ranged adequate to ample and were in the closer balance on the 3 pound and smaller sizes. 3.5 to 4.0 sizes were offered at sharp discounts in an effort to stimulate activity. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 53 to 65 cents Trade sentiment was weak and unsettled. In the parts complex, wings were no more than adequate. Other items were generally noted as at least adequate for the lackluster buying interest.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

In Chicago, prices were lower on mediums. In the Eastern region, prices were unchanged to lower on all sizes. Elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was barely steady to weak, mostly unsettled. Demand remained mixed; light to occasionally good, usually no better than moderate, and improvement through scattered feature interest was often limited. Supplies of all sizes were at least adequate to instances ample, and medium eggs continued in the longest position. Breaking stock supplies were adequate from regular sources, and demand for additional product was generally fair at best. Light type hens were fully adequate to ample for current slaughter needs.

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Export sales overnight offered support to all commodities, especially for wheat. However, some weakness was noted due to harvest progress and favorable weather conditions. Wheat mostly steady to 3 cents higher except Minneapolis 1 cent lower. Corn mixed. Sorghum 1 cent lower. Soybeans mixed. Wheat finished slightly higher with support stemming from very good overnight export sales to South Korea, Japan, and Egypt. Good harvest weather for spring wheat, limited gains. This, along with lower basis by packed elevators in order to discourage farmers from bringing in more wheat. Light export sales offered some support to corn and soybean bids, today, but harvest progress tempered gains. A pickup in soybean meal demand due to some CCC export tenders also lent support to beans.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

SEPT. 27-OCT. 3, 1999

ST. JEROME, SEPTEMBER 30.

CALLING ALL ANGELS

Michaelmas Day (September 29) is the feast day of Michael the archangel. In the British Isles, crops were harvested and the surplus sold by late September, so farmers paid their yearly rent to landowners on Michaelmas. Appropriate food and drink for All Angels, or Michaelmas Day, was roasted goose (originally a sacrifice to Michael), oat or barley cakes (or, in Scotland, rye), carrots (especially in Ireland), and new wine. Great market fairs were held just before the feast day, and the large crowds made it convenient to hold elections then as well.

If St. Michael brings many acorns, Christmas will cover the fields with snow.

TIP OF THE WEEK

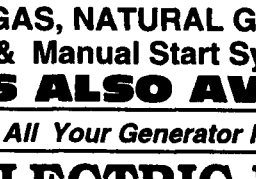
OAT SCONES

1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1-1/4 cups rolled oats
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1 egg, beaten
2/3 cups buttermilk
rolled oats, for sprinkling

Combine dry ingredients. Cut in butter. Remove 1 tablespoon beaten egg for topping; add buttermilk to rest of egg. Add to dry ingredients and stir briefly to make a sticky dough. Turn onto floured surface and knead lightly a few times until smooth. Pat out to ¼-inch thickness and cut into 2½-inch triangles. Brush tops with reserved egg and sprinkle with oats. Bake at 425° F for 12 to 14 minutes, or until golden.

Makes about 12 scones.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

As September, so the coming March.

OPINION

Pennsylvania – Leading The Way In Egg Safety

A great deal of discussion has developed recently which questions the safety of eggs in the American food supply. However, Pennsylvania has the most intensely monitored salmonella enteritidis risk reduction program in the United States according to Jim Shirk at the Pennsylvania Poultry Council. Pennsylvania is the 4th largest egg-producing state in the country and takes food safety very seriously, placing it's money where the omelets are, so to speak.

Pennsylvania's consumer protection program for eggs has led the way for almost 10 years and now stands at the forefront of national standards through a program called PEQAP, the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program. This is a voluntary program administered by the Penn Ag Poultry Council, created by the egg industry and monitored by the Department of Agriculture. The Department of Health serves as an advisor to the program and the FDA Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition provides additional support. The Pennsylvania Animal Diagnostic Laboratories at Penn State University, the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton Center, and the Department of Agriculture provide laboratory testing of eggs and environmental samples.

The PEQAP guidelines cover egg production and assure the commitment of the producer to implement the best management and monitoring practices most likely to prevent SE contamination.

Refrigeration at 45 degrees from farm to retailer is a mandatory component of the PEQAP program. Other basic measures include continuous environmental testing of layers and pullet houses, buying only SE-negative chicks, utilizing an intensively monitored rodent control program, and cleaning and disinfecting between flocks. Any positive eggs, eggs that are found to contain the salmonella enteritidis organism, are automatically diverted to a pasteurizing facility and then removed from the table egg market.

According to a 15 member Review Team Report prepared by the Food and Drug Administration, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and USDA dated January 18, 1997, it was stated "PEQAP can serve as a prototype for the egg industry in the development of egg quality assurance programs and the industry should adopt quality assurance programs based on interventions developed in the Pennsylvania Pilot Project and used in the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program."

Consumers can recognize eggs produced under the most intensely monitored system by looking for the PEQAP symbol on each carton of eggs packed by participating companies.

To Consider Hessian Fly Free Date

Farmers planting wheat will soon be able to plant without regard for the Hessian fly for this fall, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. Although many of the wheat varieties grown today are resistant to the Hessian fly, some varieties should still be planted after the fly free date to avoid damage. About 40 percent of the wheat varieties are still susceptible to the fly.

The fly free date in Pennsylvania ranges from the last week of September in the north to the first week of October in the south depending on weather conditions. With this fall's warmer than normal weather, the fly free date may be a little later.

The adult fly only lives for about one week. If it can find emerging wheat, barley or rye, it will over winter there as a pupa. If it is unable to find one of these host plants, the fly dies. In the spring, surviving pupa will hatch and new adult flies will emerge to lay eggs on the leaves. The eggs hatch and the young will feed under the leaf sheath near the node of the stem.

The stem is weakened and will usually break off before harvest time. If you are planning on using wheat as a forage crop, the Hessian fly is really not a problem.

To Beware of Silo Fires

The summer's dry weather in many parts of Pennsylvania may be causing an increased risk of tower silo fires from a lack of proper forage moisture content and/or from poor fermentation of silage. This could lead to the production of greater amounts of volatile gases that could ignite a silo fire.

Dennis Murphy, Penn State Farm Safety professor, explains that the moisture content for forages stored in a silo should be between 45 and 65 percent. If the moisture content falls below 45 percent, fire risk increases. He adds that several gases including hydrogen and methane, are by products of fermenting silage.

If excess gases are present, they could burst into flames if exposed to a source of ignition, such as static electricity or sparks created during the loading or blowing of silage. Other potential ignition sources are barn lights or other electrical equipment near or at the base of unloading chutes.

To reduce the risk of silo fires, take the following precautions:

1. Test moisture of the forage being ensiled.
2. Water down silo unloading chutes.
3. Provide plenty of ventilation around the silo, especially at loading areas and the up chutes. Use a barn fan to keep extra oxygen moving up the silo chute. This helps prevent the generation of excess silo gases and dilutes the gases present, keeping them from reaching explosive concentrations.
4. Clean off chaff and other debris from the silo chute and from around the rungs or frame of chute doors.

To Beware of Silo Gases

Dennis Murphy, Penn State Farm Safety professor, reminds us that silo gases are toxic, especially in the first 48 to 60 hours after filling.

If you must enter the silo within the first 48 to 60 hours, protect yourself by wearing a self-contained breathing apparatus. If you do not have access to one, stay out of the silo. Dangerous levels of silo gas may be present for an additional two to three weeks.

To enter without a self contained breathing apparatus during this period, ventilate with the silo blower. Open all doors, run the blower fan for 20 minutes and leave it running while you are in the silo. Enter only after you have put on a respirator for toxic dust. Also, have a second person with you to assist in an emergency.

FINDING YOUR 'HOLY PLACES'

September 26, 1999

Background Scripture:
Exodus 40:1-33; Leviticus 26
Devotional Reading:

When I was a teenager, I went to our church camp in Perkasie, Pennsylvania. The place was called Perkasie Park and it wasn't so much a camp as an old-fashioned camp meeting grounds. We lived in wooden cottages that surrounded a large wooden tabernacle. It really wasn't a camp experience at all, but that is what we called it and for me, as well as many others, it was life-changing.

When I think about it now, I realize that teenagers today would not want to go to a place like that. The buildings had only a minimum of the basic comforts. Today, they would probably be judged fire hazards. Even then in the mid to late 1940s, the physical set-up seemed antiquated, a step back into the prior century.

Carved into a modest wooded hill, was a simple amphitheater overlooking a small stream. We called it "The Dell" and it was for us a holy place. A Perkasie tradition required that we maintain silence from the time we approached the Dell until at the conclusion we passed the first cottage. The silence was broken only by the words of the worship leader and the singing of hymns.

A HOLY PLACE

Many years later, I happened to be in the neighborhood and I went to see what had become of Perkasie Park. Vacant of youth and their leaders, the park seemed a sad and deserted place, a virtual ghost town. I walked to The Dell, now overgrown and obscure in disuse. At first, I felt nothing, but remembering the inspiring moments I had experienced there, for a few moments The Dell was a holy place again.

Since those distant days, I have traveled around the world visiting sites held to be holy places. For me, some of them were holy and some were not—Lourdes was, Fatima was not, Assisi was, the Vatican City was not—and I have thought much about what it is that makes a place holy. What made the burning bush of Moses holy ground? Why was the tabernacle of the Israelites believed to be "most holy"? Did God make The Dell for us a holy place or was it our faith that generated that numinous response. Or was it both?

All of use need to have one or more holy places, sites where God seems more present, where that indefinable but almost palpable sense of holiness envelopes us. I realize that what makes a place feel holy is not that God is more truly there than somewhere else. God is everywhere, but there are some places where we feel him more truly. I believe it is our heightened sense of faith that admits more of God into our hearts in some places that accounts for that intensified sense of holiness.

MORE KEENLY FOCUSED

This is perhaps a key to understanding the tabernacle that became so important to the people of Israel while Moses led them in the wilderness. God was everywhere then, too, but the Israelites needed somewhere specific where their sense of God's presence could be more keenly focused. "Then you shall take the anointing oil," God told Moses, "and anoint the tabernacle and all that is within it, and consecrate it and all its furniture; and it shall become holy. You shall also anoint the alter of burnt offering and all its utensils, and consecrate the altar; and the altar shall be most holy" (Exodus 40:9, 10).

All of us today, maybe as never before, need some holy places where God is most keenly experienced and obeyed. For many people, their churches are holy places, not because God has blessed a particular style of architecture, a specific church location, or a strange brand of denomination, but because the faith and devotion people bring there can make them holy places.

If your church is not a holy place, if there are no holy places in your life, don't ask God for a reason. Ask yourself.

New Use Market Should Be Where Producers Set Sights

ANDY ANDREWS

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Corn and soybean producers have to realize one thing, according to a commodity broker: the feed business grows only at an annual rate of one to two percent.

"To me, that's a problem," said Pat Boova, Smith Barney marketing specialist. "That's a huge problem."

Boova, who spoke to more than 100 corn and soybean growers and agri-industry representatives in January at the crops conference at the Days Inn Conference Center near Allentown, said, "None of us can run a business growing at one or two percent a year," he said "It can't be done. It's not going to work."

Boova noted that 97 percent of the soy protein goes to feed business. Trouble is, humans don't eat a great deal of soy protein. If they did, soybean growers would be experiencing a boom time.

Same goes for corn producers. Take away the high fruc-

Corn Club Announces Contest Winners

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Recently available is the 1998 Report of the Pennsylvania 5-Acre Corn Club, supported by the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association and participating seed companies.

The winners were announced in January at the annual Pennsylvania Corn and Soybean Conference at the Days Inn Conference Center, Allentown.

According to Greg Roth, Penn State associate professor of agronomy, there were about six "fundamentals" that were followed among most of the winners. They included paying attention to the planter, getting

President's Message

Chris Kimmel
President, PMCGA

Now that you have attended winter meetings or are still attending some, do you know what you are going to do with the information?

With corn prices where they are, we certainly need to make our planting dollar go as far as possible

With seed corn prices ranging from more than $50 to $100, make sure you know what you are getting and how it will work for your situation

When it comes to spraying, there are lots of options In our situation, we finally gave up on trying to do it with a one-pass system and have committed ourselves to a pre and post application This allows us to evaluate our weed spectrum and better match weeds and chemicals It saves us more than $5 per acre, even with the extra trip, and does a better job

As poor as corn prices are,

First Farm Risk Management Seminar Scheduled Oct. 26

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – The role of crop insurance will be explored in the first-ever Farm Risk Management conference for crop insurance agents throughout New England and the Mid-Atlantic area.

The event is set for Tuesday, Oct. 26, in the Pocono Manor Inn near Swiftwater, Pa., from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Sponsoring agencies include the Center for Agricultural and Natural Resource Policy at the University of Maryland, the Northeastern Farm Management Extension Work Group, and National Crop Insurance Services. The later agency also is providing funding to help support the conference.

Wesley N. Musser, professor of agricultural & resource economics at the University of Maryland, is one of the conference planners. Musser also is a farm management specialist for Maryland Cooperative Extension. He notes that the conference is open to agri-finance personnel and other interested professionals, as well as to crop insurance agents.

Applications for continuing education credits have been made in 13 states--Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

Program speakers will include Cooperative Extension specialists and faculty members from Cornell University, Penn State, Rutgers, Virginia Tech and the University of Maryland. Other speakers are scheduled from National Crop Insurance Services and the National Council of Farmers Cooperatives.

Registration for the one-day workshop is $100. This fee includes conference materials, a pre-conference evening reception on Oct. 25, breakfast and lunch on the day of the conference, and morning and afternoon refreshments. participation is limited to the first 200 registrants. The registration deadline is Sept. 20. Hotel reservations should be made by Sept. 9.

For conference registration information, contact Liesl Koch at the University of Maryland, (301) 405-0057. Her e-mail address is LKoch@arec.umd.edu. Make registration checks payable to the University of maryland and mail to Center for Agricultural & natural Resource Policy, 2200 Symons Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742-5535.

Penn State Dairymen's Club Solicits Award Nominations

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairymen's Club is soliciting nominations for their annual service award. The honor is rotated through three industry segments – producers, industry representatives, and educators. This year a dairy industry representative who has worked towards the advancement and betterment of the dairy industry will be recognized. Nominations may include retirees and well as those still active in the industry. Any person is eligible to nominate candidates for this award, and nominees do not have to be Penn State alumni.

This year will mark the ninth award. Previous winners include Robert Patton (Monsanto), William Conyngham (Hillside Farm), Larry Specht (Penn State), Dean Amick (PA DHIA), Sam Williams (Bryncoed Farm), Steve Spencer (Penn State), Duane Norman (USDA), Jay Houser (Penn-Dell Farm), and Larry Muller (Penn State). The winner will be recognized at the Penn State Dairymen's Club annual meeting on Friday, October 29 at 6:30 p.m. in State College. To make a reservation for the dinner meeting, contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag Admin, University Park, PA 16802, phone (814) 863-2525 or send e-mail to bnr1@psu.edu.

All nominations of industry personnel should be submitted to Kirk Sattazahn, RD1 Box 164 Womelsdorf, PA 19567. Or send via e-mail to KirkS25@aol.com. Deadline for nominations is October 8, 1999. There is no specific format for nominations, but items that may be discussed are leadership in the agricultural community, personal involvement in the dairy industry, and personal achievement and contributions to local organizations and youth.

The Penn State Dairymen's Club is a non-profit support group whose mission is to enhance activities between the dairy industry and the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences. New members are always welcome. Contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag Admin., University Park, PA 16802, phone (814) 863-2525.

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

In the Holstein division, rising to the top of all classes was the senior 3-year-old cow shown by Scott Walton, son of David and Kathy Walton, Carlisle.

Judge Denny Ferguson, Dryden, N.Y., noted the overall "strength" of the Holstein show, featuring "big, strong cows with a lot of capacity and udder."

Ferguson noted the cow's "combination of strength and dairy character — that's what I like to see," he said. Ferguson noted the 3-year-old's size, and that it "moves very well in the ring." He said the cow had a "super udder with a great crease."

Walton, who won his first championship at the state junior show, also showed the reserve, a 5-year-old, Tower Vue Counselor Abby.

Walton, who exhibits at the Shippensburg Fair and the state Farm Show, noted the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show, held during the same week as the All American, is the biggest show of the year for him. Walton helps care for his family's 159-cow dairy of all-registered Holstein.

The grand champion Holstein is rated VG87 and milks about 27,000 pounds per year. The family ships milk to Kemp's.

Ferguson provided an honorable mention to the senior 3-year-old, Locker-Lane Emory Babe (S: MJR Blackstar Emory-ET, D: Locker-Lane Southwind Betsy, and bred by Wayne E. Schrock), exhibited by Desirae D. Hillegass, Berlin, Somerset County.

In the Holstein show, senior best bred and owned was awarded to Matthew E. Martin, Mercersburg, Franklin County, for his junior 3-year-old, Two-top Juror Finesse (S: Ked Juror-ET, D: Two-Top Skybuck Fancy).

In the junior division, Ferguson chose the best bred-and-owned animal shown by Amanda Cessna, Everett, Blair County, Brush-Creek-Vu BC Kasper-ET (S: Boulet Charles-ET, D: Windy-Knoll-View Krisma), as junior champion. Reserve junior champion was the summer yearling shown by Trisha R. Knight, Airville, York County, Woodbine Freddy Junie (S: Woodbine-ND Freddy ET, D: Woodbine Elroy Jane, and bred by Woodbine Farms Inc.).

Milking Shorthorn

Ted Halbach, judge of the Milking Shorthorn show from Madison, Wis., chose the 2-year-old shown by Jessica Whiting, Edinburg, Lawrence County, as grand champion.

Halbach said the 2-year-old was a "well balanced heifer, very youthful in udder," and noted the "correct size and shape of teats. It is one that could go on to a bigger show."

Whiting exhibited Kuszlyk Cattle Co. Lucy (S: Ridgewood Orval's Promise, D: Rivedale Dusty Lulu, and bred by John and Marjorie Kuszlyk) to champion.

Reserve was the junior 3-year-old, Bar-D Maple, (S: Sunnbro's Lady's Legend ET, D: Bar-D Margo EXP, and bred by Donald Johnson), shown by Melissa Wolfe, Northumberland, Lycoming County.

Senior best bred and owned was shown by Jason Heeter, Shade Gap, Huntingdon County, a 5-year-old, Summit-Vista Cit Willow (S: Three Springs Cit, D: Summit-Vista Roscoe Windy).

Denver Fair Announces Show, Sale Results

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — Results of the Denver Fair Swine Show and Sale were announced recently.

Reserve went to the 263-pound hog shown by Sarah Boyd. Sarah sold her reserve champion to Blue Ball National Bank for $550.

Heavy rains and flooding forced the cancellation of several shows this year at the fair. By the time of the sale late last week, most animals were taken to the buying station. Animals were sold by the head.

FFA's Eastern Region VP Takes Trophy At Lampeter Beef Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Busy as she is with a loaded state FFA officer schedule, Beth Frey took some time to raise a champion.

Beth, 18, is the daughter of Craig and Cindy Frey, Washington Boro. The Manor FFA member and 1999 Penn Manor High School graduate purchased the 1,358-pound Angus/Maine Anjou crossbred supreme champion at the 1998 Keystone International Livestock Expo feeder calf sale.

Beth said she named the steer after the Biblical Isaac. She noted that "genetics are a big thing" and said that what helped was the amount of time that went into working with the steer. That included walking it several times a week, from 20 minutes to a half hour, "whatever time I could find," Beth said.

This was her second Lampeter championship. She last won the contest in 1997.

"Flik" was a first for 4-H'er Dean Livengood.

Dean, son of Earl and Joyce Livengood, Lampeter, said he obtained the steer from Tim Fitzgerald in Virginia.

Cheryl Fairbairn, livestock extension agent in Chester County, judged the show, commenting on the 4-H steer. Fairbairn said the steer was "long-bodied, handles well, and is even in finish." She liked "the width of rump" and enjoyed the steer's smooth handling.

Dean is a graduate of Faith Mennonite High School. He works full time with his family's Livengood Organic Produce farm.

There were a total of 18 steers to sell and one Farm Show steer. There were 19 exhibitors.

Brother Partnership Captures Lampeter FFA Swine Trophy

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — A hog sired by "Tabasco" proved red hot Wednesday here at the West Lampeter Community Fair swine show, bringing in the FFA trophy for swine showman partner/brothers Andrew and Allan Herr Jr.

Andrew, 15, son of Allan and Amelia Herr, Lancaster, said he is in competition with brother Allan, 17, at the fair. But the brothers share profits of their endeavors, according to Andrew.

Andrew showed the 250-pound light heavyweight champion hog, a Duroc crossbred from Dave Holloway Genetics, Glen Rock. Tabasco sired the Duroc from a Jim Dandy sow.

This was Andrew's first grand champion at the fair. Andrew is a freshman at Penn Manor and Manor FFA member. Allan is a senior at Penn Manor.

Judge Ron Miller, Pennsylvania Agricultural Fair Fund administrator and sheep breeder from Womelsdorf, said the light heavyweight champion was a "real thick-made pig," with excellent movement, when he picked the hog champion of its class.

The Herr brothers are "learning together," said their father, Allan. This year, according to Andrew, the partnership "is doing a lot better," picking up showman champions, most recently at the Solanco Fair.

Tiffany nicknamed the hog "Dixie" in honor of the "Dixie Chicks" band. Tiffany said this is her first grand champion at the fair.

Tiffany, in the seventh grade at Martin Meylin Middle School, purchased the hog from Ken Winebark, Myerstown. She said that a combination of good feed and exercising the hog about three to four times a week, for about a half hour each time, were key to taking home the 4-H trophy.

Tiffany has shown hogs at the county roundup, Solanco Fair, and plans to take a hog and lamb to the state Farm Show.

There were 43 hogs and 20 exhi-

Milk Marketing Board Mandates Over-Order Premium

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Today at a special Sunshine Meeting, the Milk Marketing Board members voted that an over-order premium of $.40 per hundred pounds of milk must be paid to Pennsylvania dairy farmers for their Class I (drinking) milk that is produced, processed, and sold in Pennsylvania. Official General Order A-905 mandates that this premium is effective October 1, 1999.

This action was taken as a result of an Over-Order Premium Hearing held Aug. 3. Testimony presented at the hearing by farm groups and dairy cooperatives showed that due to adverse weather conditions an over-order premium was necessary to help the Pennsylvania dairy farmers. Due to a prolonged period of extremely hot temperatures, which has placed severe stress on dairy cows, dairy farmers have experienced up to a 20% decrease in milk production. In addition, drought conditions have lowered production of grain and hay by 30% to 100% forcing farmers to incur additional costs to purchase grain and hay for feed for their dairy herds. Also, many dairy farmers have seen their creeks, wells, and streams go dry thus forcing them into another unexpected expense for transporting water for their herd.

The hearing was called by the board to determine if the current over-order premium—which is scheduled to expire on September 30, 1999—should be continued, adjusted, or allowed to expire as scheduled. The current premium is $2.80 per one hundred pounds o milk when the Basic Formula Price (BFP) is $10.27 per one hundred pounds of milk or less. Thereafter, for every $.01 increase in the BFP, there is a $.01 decrease in the over-order premium. Accordingly, when the BFP reaches $13.07, there is no premium. This type of premium will be discontinued when the new order becomes effective October 1.

Additionally, at a special Sunshine Meeting held on Aug. 13, an over-order premium of $.40 per hundred pounds of milk was mandated for the month of September 1999. The BFP exceeded $13.07 for September milk and it was determined that an over-order premium was still necessary for that month (Official General Order A-904).

Pennsylvania is number four in the nation for milk production. Agriculture is the number one industry in Pennsylvania and milk production is number one in agriculture.

Northeast Order Class I Price Announced

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Acting Market Administrator David Z. Walker announced the October 1999 Class I price of $19.49 per hundredweight for the Northeast Order. The October Class I skim price is $14.50 per hundredweight and the Class I butterfat price is $1.5134 per pound. The announced Class I prices are for Suffolk County, Massachusetts (Boston). The Class I price includes the 20-cent assessment for fluid milk promotion and consumer education. The October 1999 Class I price at Philadelphia, PA is $18.94, an increase of $2.06 when compared to the Order No. 4 announced Class I price for September, and $.66 higher when compared to year earlier levels. The October Class I price at Baltimore, MD and Washington, DC is $18.79. The Class II skim milk price for October is $8.45 per hundredweight and the Class II nonfat solids price is $.9389 per pound.

The October 1999 Class I and Class II skim and nonfat solids prices are based on the weighted average of the National Agricultural Statistical Service (NASS) announced commodity prices for the two week period ending September 11, 1999 as follows: butter $1.3324; cheese $1.8008; nonfat dry milk $1.0155; dry whey $.1872 per pound.

Ayrshire

The 6-year-old cow impressed Ayrshire judge Jeff Ziegler, Plain City, Ohio, with the most balance in the show ring. The cow exhibited great "bloom to the udder," he said, with its "firmness and length of attachment."

The aged cow could go onto the "next level and do well," said Ziegler. But the aged cow "catches your eye no matter where she's standing in the ring," he said, with a "very beautiful profile and width through the udder."

The champion, shown by Alan Roger Brant, Mount Union, Huntingdon County, was Blackaddar Anastasia 2 (S: Desblay Rebel Willy, D: Blackaddar Anita 2, and bred by George L. Boswall and Sons). Ziegler also noted the cow was "very correct in teat placement," with its "placement and length of teat and (overall) capacity of the cow."

Ziegler said the 4-year-old had good ligament and chose it for reserve. The cow was shown by Craig Anthony Nolan, Cochranville, Chester County, Dreamnol Teddy Bear Lindy (S: Muellers BBK Teddy Bear, D: Dreamnol Banner Lyn. Nolan also won senior best bred-and-owned animal with this cow.

Junior champion in the Ayrshire show went to the winter intermediate yearling, Yellow Briar Ryan Ellie (S: Covey-Farms Trident Ryan, D: Yellow Briar Elissa, and bred by John F. Stephens) shown by Susan M. Richardson, Fawn Grove, York County. Reserve was shown by Crystal Bozlinski, Wampum, Lawrence County, Green Lane Reward Rose (S: Covey Farms Olympic Reward, D: Masonic Homes Corken's Mel, and bred by Nichol Bozlinski Deem).

Guernsey

Monday was "red cow's day," in the Guernsey show, when judge Ted Halbach, Madison, Wis., had to decide between siblings. In the end, "the brother gets the bragging rights over the sister," Halbach said, choosing Aaron Gable's junior 3-year-old, Cedar Fringed Altann (S: Sherma Victory Ellas Enhancer, D: Cedar Fringed Aggie, and bred by Frances and Ethel Kirk), as champion. The 3-year-old bested one shown by Aaron' sister, Kendy, the reserve champion, from the same class, Sniders G Henry Addi (S: Solum Grand Henry, D: Sniders Victory Audie-Twin, and bred by Berneta Kay Gable).

Halbach said the junior 3-year-old was a tough class. But the 3-year-old shown by Aaron "has the advantage in udder, height and width of the utter, in addition to teat size and shape, with more seam in the udder" over the one shown by Kendy and others in the ring.

Halbach noted that Kendy's cow "is a real framey" kind of cow. The Gables are from New Enterprise, Bedford County.

Senior best bred and owned in the Guernsey division went to the junior 2-year-old shown by Terri Johnson, York, York County, Rutter Bros Enhancers Lily (S: Sherma Victory Ellas Enhancer, D: Rutter Bros Perfectos Lydia).

Terri also won the junior champion with the winter intermediate yearling, Rutter Bros Fayettes Lizzy (S: Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette, D: Rutter Bros Pro Kinds Leamay, and bred by Rutter Bros). Reserve junior champion was the winter intermediate calf shown by Lucas Trowbridge, Camptown, Bradford County, Burlington Billy Noel (S: Jimco Pansys Billy ET, D: Shale Hill Perfect Nola, and bred by Lucas). Lucas won junior best bred and owned with the same animal.

Jersey

In the junior show, Ziegler selected the spring (junior) yearling exhibited by Tori Jo Fuller, Tiaro Jude Angel (S: Curtsey Duncan Jude-ET, D: Sunrise Imprint

National Sheep Association Forms Interim Board

DENVER, Colo. — The National Sheep Association (NSA) recently named its Interim board of directors, the organization's initial governing body.

The board will be responsible for setting the wheels of this new industry-wide sheep association in motion.

Election of officers, approval of the organization's bylaws, implementation of a membership marketing campaign, and setting the course for the organization's Business Development Council will be at the top of the agenda for the board.

The board represents key segments of the industry and was selected from nominations made by sheep industry organizations and individuals involved in the sheep industry. Directors will serve until such time that a board of directors is elected by the organization's membership. Structurally, the 16-member interim board of directors consists of two directors from each of six key industry segments, three at-large directors, and one strategic partner.

The following individuals were named to the interim board of directors; farm flock – Mike Caskey (Minnesota), Dwight Kitzan (South Dakota); range flock – Ray Talbott (California), Danny Lanning (Montana); seed stock – Ron Guenther (Ohio); Gary Rickets (Iowa); feeder – Sam Rudnick, Jr. (Washington); Bill Salina (Washington); Bill Salina (Montana); post harvest lamb – Irwin Fishman (Colorado); Rosemary Mucklow (California); post harvest wool – Michael O'Byrne (South Carolina), Bob Woodbury (Colorado); at-large – Clay Drake (Colorado); Dwight Dial (Iowa), Tim Barnes (Ohio); and strategic – Sandy Snider (Colorado).

Mike Caskey, a farm flock director from Minnesota and chairman of the Sheep Industry Transition Team which crafted the organization's plan, said "Our team did our best to develop the plan. Now it's up to the new Interim board to see that the NSA becomes the catalyst to unify and position the sheep industry for success in the 21st century."

The NSA is the only industry-wide organization that allows a segments of the industry to come together to develop an industry-wide vision, cooperatively solve industry problems, build coalitions, and develop new business opportunities.

For more information, contact the NSA, 950 South Cherry Street, Suite 508, Denver, CO 80246-2664, call (303) 758-3513, or visit the NSA web site at www.nationalsheep.org.

Adelaide, and bred by Tori) as champion. Fuller is from Carlisle, Cumberland County, and won junior best bred-and-owned animal with the winter intermediate calf, Tiaro Remake Dreamer (S: Rock Ella Remake-ET, D: Jemi Dazzle Sooner TJ).

Ziegler chose, as reserve junior champion, the summer yearling shown by Michelle L. Adam, Tunkhannock, Wyoming County, RS DC Panda (S: Duncan Chief, D: J. Imperial Panda, and bred by Ryan Sprout).

In the senior Jersey competition, Ziegler selected the aged cow exhibited by Curtis L. Reichard, Chambersburg, Franklin County, Reich-Dale Brigadier-ET (S: Bush River Brigadier-ET, D: Pleasant Valley Slam Sandee), also best owner-bred cow. Ziegler emphasized the way the cow "travels so nicely," because it is important that, to have cows milking, they "need to get to the feed trough — they need to travel," he said. The cow had the right udder and the "right kind of body," Ziegler said.

For reserve champion, Ziegler selected the 6-year-old cow shown by Trisha McIlwain, Liberty, Tioga County, Eastmont Donna Jon (S: Sprit Lou Nina Jon ET, D: Wolfhill Yankee Donna, and bred by Eastmont Farms). The 6-year-old is a cow "that can go home and pay the bills and do a good job," Ziegler said.

Brown Swiss

Judge Ted Halbach selected the 6-year-old and over class winner exhibited by Joshua Hushon, Airville, York County, as grand champion. The cow is Lake Lane Pebbles (S: Victory Acres Jubilation Emory, D: Lake Lane Shaley), bred by Kenneth Lohr. Halbach pointed out the winner had "tremendous bloom of udder, a cow that spells 'milk.'"

Halbach selected the senior 3-year-old cow exhibited by Jason Larson, Smethport, McKean County, Irons Blowpop (S: Forest Lawn Simon Jetway ET (M), D: Irons Bubblicious, and bred by Charles Irons), as reserve. Halbach noted the cow's "youthfulness, femininity, and overall dairy character," he said.

Senior best bred and owned animal was shown by Sarah A. Wickard, Shippensburg, Cumberland County. The 5-year-old was Lo-Vi Lacy Ensign Lovely (S: R Hart Simon Ensign ET, D: Lo-Vi Lady Even Lacy).

Boyd Wins Big At Ephrata Fair, Zimmerman Takes Breed Supreme

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — With 130 sheep at Ephrata Fair, competition is steep, but the same names generally rise to the top. This year was no exception.

Sarah Boyd stole the spotlight by showing both the champion and reserve market lamb and the champion non-sale market lamb.

Although Sarah is a consistent winner, she said this was a first to achieve the top three spots in one show.

Both the grand champion and reserve market lambs were homebred — another remarkable feat when competing against bought lambs from the midwest.

Sarah said that she walks her sheep a mile a day.

"But the bottom line is that you got to have good bloodlines to begin with," Sarah said.

"Last year we purchased a buck from B&B (Barb Banbury) in Ohio and it really improved our flock," Sarah said. "It really put leg (muscle and meat) into them (the offspring)."

Her non-sale champion was a purchased lamb named Latrelle purchased from B&B.

With earnings from numerous shows since she was 8 years old, Sarah will finance college. She will enter Millersville University in January.

Sarah will be showing at Farm Show in Jan. 2000. "I'm hoping 2000 will be my year. I never had the champion there," Sarah said.

In addition to showing the champions, Sarah was named reserve champion showman, a first for her. "It all seems to be coming together this year," Sarah said. "I won champion showmanship in pigs and goats, and now reserve in sheep."

Much to his chargin, Jimmy Zimmerman, 15, took grand champion showman. He is accustomed to his older sister Jen always beating him in showmanship.

However, Jen, 17, countered with fantastic wins at the end of the show. She took both the supreme and the supreme reserve champion over all breeds. Her Horned Dorset ram, first was grand champion ram of the show and went on to be named supreme over all breeds.

The fall lamb ram named Noble Buckeye is part of the Horned Dorset flock that Jen started showing last year.

Jen's Southdown fall ewe lamb named Lucy was selected grand champion ewe over all breeds and then named reserve supreme over all breeds.

The Zimmermans are the children of Jay and Joanne Zimmerman, Reinholds. Jen and Jimmy are both FFA students at Ephrata.

Judge Howard Tyson, Berks County Dorset breeder, was impressed with the maneuvers Jimmy used in setting up his lamb.

In the non-sale competition, Rachel Day, New Holland, showed a heavyweight to take the reserve champion title after Sarah's champion. Rachel will show the lamb next week at the New Holland Fair where it will be sold. This is Rachel's last year of showing as she will be heading off for college.

Dorset — Holly Hoover showed the champion ewe, which went on to be named reserve champion ewe of the show. Radell Peters, E-town, showed a Dorset lamb that was named reserve champion of the breed.

Romney — The champion ewe and reserve champion ram was shown by Alexander Lauffer, Narvon. Her sister Jon Marie Lauffer showed the champion ram. Stacy Haines, Manheim, showed the reserve champ ewe.

Shropshire champion ewe was Derick Bollinger's yearling. He also showed the reserve champion ram. The reserve champion ewe was shown by Casey Seibert, Ephrata, who also showed the champion ram.

Suffolk — Andrew Gerhart showed an aged ewe to be named champion ewe and a yearling to be named reserve champion of the breed.

Natural Colored — Ryan Donough showed a yearling ewe that became champion and a ewe lamb named reserve.

Oxford — Joelynn Donough wrapped up the Oxford competition with a ram lamb that became champion ram of the breed and, later, the reserve champion ram over all breeds. Joelynn also showed a yearling ewe, named champion Oxford ewe, and a ewe lamb for the reserve champion ewe Oxford.

Lampeter Excels As Educational Sheep Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Allison Hughes and Brad Leaman achieved the distinction of showing the grand champion market lambs at the 75th annual West Lampeter Community Fair.

Over the years, some changes have been introduced, but the community prides itself on remaining strictly an educational fair—no midway for them.

At the Sheep Show, Wednesday, a break from traditional showmanship impacted the educational aspect of the annual event. Judge Barbara Banbury, Ohio livestock dealer and sheep breeder, looked for the usual traits necessary in good showmanship. From this group the top two showman were selected: Jessica Schmidt and April Leaman.

Banbury requested the two set up their lamb any place in the show ring in order to show the lamb to its best advantage. After this was accomplished, Banbury asked Jessica and April to go the microphone and tell the audience why they selected the spot they did and to specify their lambs' strong points.

Jessica told the audience that she found a spot to set her lamb's front legs higher in order to show off its length.

Sixteen-year-old April said that she selected a flat place so that it would not distort the angle of her lamb. The lamb's strongest characteristic, she said, is its muscular legs.

Banbury selected April as the winner for two reasons. Banbury said that April did a superb job in showing, even though black-face sheep are more difficult to control, and that April handled herself well at the microphone.

April is a pro at winning showmanship. In addition to several top placings, she had won last year's competition, which Banburg had judged in a similar fashion.

Showmanship is dependent on knowledge. This method, Banbury said, gives kids equal opportunity to win regardless of the lamb's quality. April has garnered a lot of experience because she has been showing in 4-H since she was eight years old. April is a junior at Lampeter Strasburg, where the points she learned in a required public speaking course helped her articulate her reasons.

The Lampeter sheep show offers two different categories for market lamb contenders. The one is open to FFA students and the other to 4-H members.

1999 Keystone International Livestock Exposition

They Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 43rd year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 29 - October 4.

1999 has been designated as "Year of the Beef," so beef exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the beef cattle. Five major breeds will be shown. They are Angus, Hereford, Limousin, Simmental and Shorthorn.

Horses will again be prominent at the show. Increased interest has led the show management to expand the horse program to seven days. The Haflinger Show will be on Tuesday evening. Over 500 draft horses will be at the show. The draft horse hitch show is a qualifying event in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, and many of the country's top rated hitches will work to earn points for the national event.

The sheep department will feature two regional shows in the junior division and seven sheep breeds will hold yearling ewe and lamb sales during the week.

Starting on Thursday, at 3 p.m., will be the Stockmen's Trade Show. Everything from T-shirts and jewelry to saddles and horse trailers will be available to purchase from the 35 vendor booths at the show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockroom contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent tests of knowledge and skill. providing students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture

Over 4,100 entries are expected for the 1999 show. which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

A tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups will be available and the Barnyard Baby Exhibit where young and old alike may touch and pet the animals is always a favorite spot at the show.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 28 — The Haflinger Hitch Show will kick off the KILE show.

Wednesday, Sept. 29 — The exposition officially begins at 8 a.m. with the Appaloosa Horse Show, the Haflinger Halter Show and the Draft Horse Hitch Show.

Thursday, Sept. 30 — The Percheron and Clydesdale Regional Halter Shows will begin at 8 a.m. Draft Horse Hitch Shows will be featured at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. The opening ceremony will be held at 4 p.m. with the Livestock Person of the Year and Outstanding FFA and 4-H Livestock members being recognized. Wool judging begins at 3 p.m. and breeding sheep and swine judging will begin at 5 p.m.

Friday, October 1, Stockman's Day — The Belgian and Shire Halter Show, begins at 8 a.m. along with the breeding sheep featuring various breeds followed by Shorthorn cattle at noon. Simmental Cattle Futurity is featured at 2 p.m. Also, at 9 a.m. begins the judging of breeding swine of various breeds. Throughout the afternoon, various classes will be conducted including cattle and sheep. At 6 p.m. the Keystone Classic Sale will take place, which will feature eight breeds of swine. Sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds Show" at 7 p.m. is the University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center. This is horsemanship at its best as 10 breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Paint, Half-Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Percheron, Saddlebred and Quarter Horse go against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. The animals will be chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horses must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. Also included will be Draft Horse Hitch Classes. There will be a $5 charge for the evening performance.

Saturday, Oct. 2 — a busy day begins with the Draft Horse Halter Youth Classes at 8 a.m. The Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contest also is held at 8 a.m. Judging begins at 8 a.m. for the National Merino Sheep Show. A sheep and shepherd are dressed in their finest. Also at noon, Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank are sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be held for children at 3 p.m. with the Kids Pedal Power Pull sponsored by Evergreen Tractor. At noon, the Paso Fino Horse Show is featured. Also, at noon, the Limousin Cattle Show begins. The Yearling Bred Ewe Sale begins at 3 p.m. On Saturday evening, at 6:30 p.m., the Feeder Calf Sale will be held. The Heavy Hitch Classic Show begins at 7 p.m. The breeds featured are Belgian, Clydesdale/Shire and Percheron with their 6-Horse Hitch Competition. An admission fee of $5 will be charged for this Show.

Sunday, Oct. 3, Family Day — At 8 a.m. a family sunrise church service will be held. Junior beef breeding cattle and sheep judging begins at 8 a.m. At noon is the Jr. Steer judging and then at 12:30 p.m. is the Live Hog Evaluation Contest. At 8 a.m. is the Duroc barrows followed by Crossbred barrows. At 3 p.m. is the Hereford Show. A busy day at the Expo continues with lambs, sheep, and hog judging throughout the rest of the day.

Monday, Oct. 4 — As the Keystone International Livestock Exposition enters its last day, there is still a very busy schedule. The Arabian Horse Show will begin at 8 a.m. Also, at 8 a.m., the Tunis, Columbia and Cheviot Breeding Sheep will be held. 8 a.m., a busy time slot, continues with Simmental breeding cattle. The Keystone Stockman's Contest begins at 9:30 a.m. The Keystone Stockman's Contest Awards Program is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

KILE SHEPHERD'S LEAD LINE

Who looks better, the sheep or the shepherd? Judges will tell at the KILE Shepherd's Lead Line Competition, on Saturday, Oct. 1 at noon, at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in the most attractive manner and give spectators the opportunity to see the best sheep of the industry.

The normal procedure at a livestock show is for the animal to be primped and lovely, but in this lead line competition, the leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit. (At least 80% wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal this show. The herdsperson must not only look terrific, but the sheep must also show their modeling talents. The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

Spokespersons point out the virtues of wool at ringside. It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well-deserved comeback.

ENTERTAINMENT SCHEDULED

1999 has been designated as "Year of Beef," so beef exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the beef industry and the high caliber of beef shows held annually at KILE.

At the 1999 show, the two strolling acts, booked primarily for Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on their show. For too many years, the only reason people had to attend the KILE Show was to look at the animals and one quick trip through the barns and they went home.

The first strolling act is musical. The Sadie Green Sales, two talented performers, play music on wash tubs, saws and crockery jugs. They are sure to both amuse and entertain. "Huggles" the clown will perform a short magic show on stage and will also move around the building. His antics make him a real favorite with the small children.

SATURDAY IS FAMILY DAY

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, Oct. 2, as Family Day. Daily attractions continue throughout Family Day including the unique Sadies Green Sales Jug Band and "Huggles" the clown with his magic show.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all week long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch farm animals such as calves, sheep and pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

At noon, the Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank's "Agri-Kid Olympics" will be conducted. The Olympics are a fun time for kids as they compete in such farm-related events as sack races, wheelbarrow races, laughing contest, horseshoe pitch and hog-calling contest.

The Kiddie Pedal Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must pre-register prior to the event which will be held at 3 p.m. and is limited to 80 participants.

HEAVY HITCH CLASSIC SET FOR KILE

On Saturday, Oct. 2, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The Heavy Hitch Classic will begin at 7 p.m. in the Large Arena. An admission fee of $5 per person will be charged at the gate.

Hitches come for six states and represent five major draft horse breeds.

In 1998, over 200 six-horse hitches were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The KILE is again a qualifying show for the series final. Prize money totaling more than $38,060 will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. The KILE has been chosen as one of 45 recognized qualifying shows on the Classic Series show circuit.

Each year, all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at qualifying shows spread across Canada and the United States. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The state goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, thereby expanding development of the draft breed industry."

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourage breeders of quality hitch horses.

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show competition.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator. Over 450 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that more than 26 hitches will be in competition for the Classic at the Keystone.

CHALLENGE OF THE BREEDS

The Friday, Oct. 1 evening arena program at KILE, will be the "Challenge of the Breeds." This show pits nine internationally recognized horse breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Paint, Half-Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Quarter Horse, Percheron, and Saddlebred against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. These animals have been chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. The event is sponsored in part by the University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center.

The six events in which each horse may be entered include:

- Pleasure Driving – Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.
- English Pleasure – In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot and a canter.
- Hunter Hack – In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.
- Western Pleasure – In western gear, the horse will walk, jog, and lope in both directions.
- Western Riding – The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.
- Barrel Racing – A timed event in the cloverleaf pattern is performed by the horse.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by a qualified judge. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign Champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The reserve champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the 10th time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania. The Draft Horse teams will also perform in competitive classes during the evening. Over 20 different teams are expected to be in competition.

The show will begin at 7 p.m.

SPONSORS ASSIST IN PRODUCTION OF KILE

To date, 59 major sponsors have committed funds to support the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. A sponsorship program was put together a few years ago to assist in funding the show as well as to promote the show. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies and individuals to get involved.

University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center is sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds" show on Friday evening in the large arena. A total of 12 horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition.

Evergreen Tractor Sales owner, Dennis Grumbine, reports that he chose to sponsor the Kiddie's Pedal Pull because of the close tie-in with the equipment business. The event is open to children between the ages of 3 and 8.

Kessler Meats has chosen to sponsor the daily "Kessler's Barnyard," as it is called, where kids of all ages can touch and

Trail Ride To Benefit Lancaster Therapeutic Riding Program

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County 4-H Therapeutic Riding Club will hold its third annual fund raising trail ride at the beautiful Fair Hill Natural Resource Area, Fair Hill, Md. on Sunday, September 26. Fair Hill is considered to be one of the most beautiful and complete equestrian centers in the East and is about a 75-minute drive from Lancaster. The 15-mile ride will be held rain or shine with registration from 10 a.m.-10:45 a.m. with the ride starting at 11 a.m. The ride will be approximately three hours in length through woods and open fields. This is a slow paced ride which allows riders to enjoy the beautiful countryside and allows horse enthusiasts to join together and ride for a common cause. A rider must provide his or her own horse and be at least eight years of age to participate. Riders are asked to collect sponsorships totaling at least $20 or pay an entry fee of $25 to participate. Riders are encouraged to register in advance and can contact Fran Spangler, 15 Jefferson Ave., Denver, PA 17517 or call (717) 336-0349 or (717) 484-0582 for more information and directions to the facility.

After the ride various door prizes will be given away and a light luncheon will be served. The lunchson is courtesy of the Filet Shop, New Holland, Pa. Prizes will be given to riders collecting $50-99.99; $100-249.99 and over $250. New this year will be two grand prizes for individuals who collect and turn in the most sponsorship money the day of the ride. First prize will be a FREE WEEKEND for two at Roseland Ranch Resort in New York (valued at $600) and second prize of a $250 gift certificate for Buck Home Furnishings, Buck, Pa.

The Lancaster County 4-H Therapeutic Riding Program offers riding to approximately 60-80 riders during each six-week session which is held April through October at Greystone Manor Stables, Lancaster. Lessons are available to children and adults with a variety of disabilities. Therapeutic riding offers many benefits to the students, including improvement in their balance, strength, range of motion, coordination and self confidence. Riding skills are taught and social skills are improved. The students do pay for the lessons but the cost is kept below the actual cost of maintaining the program and students are not refused due to lack of funds. Therefore, the club must rely on several fundraisers during the year to raise money to cover costs which include board for the seven horses, shoeing, tack, insurance, vet. Fees and other miscellaneous expenses. If you are interested in the program and would like to receive information about the program, please write to LC4HTP, Box 10724, Lancaster, PA 17605.

Ace Receives All-American Image Award

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Donald L. Ace received the 1999 All-American Image Award at the Wednesday night buffet. Don has been a hard working activist of the All-American Dairy Show team form its infancy in 1964. His role in the very first Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show was as the superintendent of the Holstein committee. Since then he has been one of the voices of the All-American, acting as an announcer for many of the dairy shows hosted in the large arena. Don retired from the Penn State Dairy & Animal Science Department in 1984 but continues to help with dairy events like the All-American Dairy Show.

Don was raised on a dairy farm in Susquehanna County. He graduated from Meshoppen High School and then obtained a B S degree in dairy production from Penn State in 1952. After graduation he became an assistant county agent in Allegheny County. In 1955, he returned to Penn State as an extension specialist and got his masters degree in dairy science. His entire professional career has been spent helping people in the dairy industry.

Don was an accomplished writer of extension materials in the dairy management field, as well as 4-H dairy circulars, and a series of dairy reference manuals. He was the first to develop a program and materials on the management of dairy goats, including a correspondence course and a dairy goat handbook that received a national and international distribution

Don served as advisor to the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association, the Pennsylvania Purebred Dairy Cattle Association and the Pennsylvania Dairy Goat Association. He coordinated the Pennsylvania Farm Show dairy committee, managed the PDCA judging school, and was superintendent of the Holstein breed at the All-American for twenty years.

After retirement, he became superintendent over all breeds for five years and has continued to work with the show as an announcer and in several other capacities. Don is closing in on 50 years of service to the dairy industry. Nowhere is his dedication more evident than in his work to build and maintain the image of the All-American Dairy Show.

Outside of the dairy field, he is well known for his efforts as an author of the popular book "Winemaking as a Hobby." The book has sold over 60,000 copies and is now in its third edition. Don is also an accomplished woodcarver and displays his work at the All-Dairy Antiques and Collectibles Show during All-American week.

The Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show is proud to honor Donald L. Ace for his years of dedicated work and support of this dairy event.

Fultonway Garners Supreme At Lampeter Dairy Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — The dairy cow with the "fewest faults," noted the judge of the show, would rise to the top and claim the supreme champion dairy trophy Thursday afternoon here at the West Lampeter Community Fair.

A 6-year-old Holstein shown by James Frey of Fultonway Farm, Willow Street, did just that.

Frey paraded "Johanna," a cow rated VG88 with a last lactation of 37,000 pounds, to supreme champion of the fair. The Frey family has won several times in previous years at the fair.

Show judge P. Robert Wenger, Quarryville, liked the "well-balanced" cows in the show ring when he picked the Holstein as champion in her breed.

Wenger said he liked cows that "walk well, that are good on their legs and feet — they are the kind of dairy cows I look for."

The Holstein won out over some outstanding animals, noted Wenger, including the Jersey and Ayrshire, in addition to Brown Swiss and Milking Shorthorn, in the ring.

At the show were 75 animals and 20 exhibitors.

York Fair Names Junior Swine Show Winners

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — For the first time in the memory of York Fair's longtime swine showmen and breeders, the coveted junior market pig top honors went to a sister/brother team.

Amanda and Matt Hoover, East Prospect, shared the champion and reserve awards in the popular junior market pig runoffs. Amanda snagged the grand champion market swine banner with her 264-pound champion heavyweight, and Matt took the reserve spot with his 254-pound light heavyweight. Both winning pigs are Yorkshire crossbreds and were purchased as feeders from New Freedom swine breeder Steve Wilson.

The siblings raise their project pigs on Paul and Rose Hoover's East Prospect farm, where the Hoover family also raises and milks a herd of dairy goats. Amanda, 11, has been showing as a 4-H exhibitor for five years. She also serves on the county's dairy promotion team as a dairy maid. Matt, 12, is a six-year 4-H exhibitor and the prime feeder and caretaker of the family's pig projects.

Showmanship and fitting contests drew a large field of competition, with more than 30 youth taking to the ring with their hogs for the age-class categories. Champion showman was the junior age group winner, 9-year-old Matt Bankert of Hanover, also named the reserve champion fitter. Champion fitter was Cody Ault, 13, of Hanover. Reserve champion showman was Amanda Hoover.

4-H banner in previous years. This year was the first he qualified for FFA competition. With his homebred heavyweight Suffolk, Brad took the grand champion FFA sale lamb. The 14-year-old said that he walks the lamb several times weekly.

Brad and April raise 10 ewes, a ram, and the offspring on their parents' David and Jackie Leaman's farmette in Willow Street.

Allison Hughes, 13, showed the 4-H grand champion market lamb. The Hampshire-crossbred was purchased from Don Witt.

Allison said the lamb named Jack is "crazy."

"He flips out whenever I try to show him," she said.

But Jack's antics did not disquise his outstanding qualities. Banbury said, "The middleweight handles tremendously, has ideal conditioning, and a tremendously long hind saddle."

The show had 34 market entries and 15 breeding sheep.

With the grand champions of the youth division are from left, Samuel Hayes, Jr., Pennsylvania Ag Secretary; Norman Nabholz, judge; Scott Walton with the grand champion; Shane Hall with the reserve grand champion; Lori Connelly, new state dairy princess; and Amanda Gilkinson, alternate state dairy princess.

The Eastern National Holstein Sale was held Wednesday night as part of the All-American Dairy Show. Here the two-month-old calf, Glen-Toctin Manfred Lisa-ET sells for $10,900. Consigned by Glen-Toctin Farm, Jefferson, Maryland, with contracts from Japan, the calf sold to Grey Bauer from Wisconsin on a telephone bid.

American Dairy Show plus all the competitive entries (that number nearly 10,000) for the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Charlie's involvement with the Keystone International Livestock Exposition has been invaluable. Dramatic improvements, at Mr. Itle's direction, have been made in the operation in the show. His knowledge of local, state and national 4-H and FFA activities are evidenced in the major emphasis placed on the educational aspects of the show, such as the Livestock Judging contests and the Keystone Stockman's contest. He did all the design on the pens used for beef, swine and sheep at the complex.

Active in his new community, Charlie was a 4-H leader for many years, and is active in St. Teresa's Church in New Cumberland. He resides in Lewisberry. He has five children, Christine, Carol, Tom, Meg and Jeff and four grandchildren.

According to Charlie's colleagues, he is an individual of impeccable character and of utmost dedication to his job responsibilities. His attention to detail and fulfilling his job duties provides a degree of event management success that is possibly unmatched in this industry.

For these reasons, the selection committee felt very strongly that Charlie is very deserving of the 1999 Pennsylvania Livestock Association Hall of Fame Award.

PLA YOUTH AWARDS

The Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA Youth for the past 23 years. The winners are selected from a field of candidates submitted by county health extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the commonwealth.

The male FFA Youth Award recipient this year is Jason Balsbaugh, son of Scott and Robin Balsbaugh of 394 Schaeffer Road, Lebanon, Pa. Jason was a member of Cedarcrest FFA for four years. Jason is employed by Wen-Crest Farms being responsible for feed rations as well as being the major caretaker for the 400 animals on the farm. In high school he was a member of the National Honor Society, Chorus and Concert Choir and is now enrolled at Messiah College, majoring in Math.

Michele Fetterolf is the female FFA Youth Award recipient. Michele is the daughter of Kenneth and Joan Fetterolf, R.D. 1, Box 1435, Beavertown, Pa. Michele graduated this past Spring from West Snyder High School where she was an FFA member for the past three and one-half years. Very active in high school, she was involved in nearly everything, and served as vice president of her class. Extremely involved in the swine industry, she has showed animals at local fairs as well as the Pennsylvania Farm Show and KILE. Michelle is a freshman at St. Francis College and her major is Physician Assistant.

The Outstanding 4-H girl is Jesse Metz of 357 Pohls Road, Aliquippa, Pa. She is a senior at Hopewell High School. A Beaver County 4-H member for the past six years, she has shown hogs, steers and horses. Very active in her club, she has served in nearly every office and at the present time is President of the Thundering Hooves 4-H Horse and Pony Club. In 1998 she was the Hookstown Fair Queen. An honors student in high school, she plans to further her education at Wilmington College majoring in Biology with a minor in Equine Science. Her parents are Gary and Merran Metz.

Honors for the 4-H boy goes to Michael T. Burrell, 6090 Mountain Road, Dover, Pa. He is the son of William and Carolyn Burrell. Involved in agriculture his entire life, Mike has shown sheep and hogs in York County as well as participating in the Livestock and Meats Judging Teams. In 1996 Mike was the National 4-H Meats Judging Contest High Individual. In high school he was active in the Symphonic Band, Jazz Band and Marching Band. Also an FFA member as well as a member of the National Honor Society. In his community, he earned the Eagle Scout Award and is very active with his church youth group. He is now a freshman at Messiah College majoring in Biology with a minor in Chemistry.

These very deserving young people will be recognized at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition opening ceremony in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex on Thursday, Sept. 30 at 4 p.m. They will receive a plaque and a monetary award.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/ Fulton Bank is sponsoring the Agri-Kid Olympics. In addition to the farm-related competitive events, kids will even learn how to auctioneer.

Pennsylvania Livestock Association is sponsoring the Keystone Stockman's Contest. It will be held on Monday, Oct. 5 and is open to any 4-H or FFA member in the United States and Canada. Last year, 502 youth participated in this contest.

Sponsorships at KILE are available in six monetary denominations from $50 to $1,000+. Sponsors receive show pins, ring announcements, plaques, display ads, pictures and banners depending on the level of participation.

The show is indebted to its Diamond Sponsors. Pennwoods Equine Products, Center Hall; Leroy Gray, Fairbanks, IA; and the Pennsylvania Percheron Association, Boalsburg are all major sponsors in the 6-Horse Hitch classes. Fieldstone Meadows Horse Farm, Dallastown, is a major sponsor in the Paso Fino champion classes and the Pennsylvania Draft Horse & Mule Association sponsors various mare and stallion classes. The University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine, New Bolton Center, Kennett Square, is a major sponsor of the Challenge of the Breeds.

YOUTH CONTESTS FEATURED AT KILE

The 22nd Annual Keystone Stockman's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the KILE Show, is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 4. The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three to four members. These members will also compete as individuals.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the contest concludes at 4:30 p.m. This allows a group to participate in the contest, view the livestock and horse shows in progress and return home the same day.

Prices are awarded for the winners. The high scoring team wins $100, as well as ribbons. The individual high scoring team wins $75, with prizes going to the top 30 participants. All others will receive participation ribbons. The five highest placing contestants in the overall individual scores are interviewed by a committee of three officials. The interview consists of questions on management, health, showing and current events concerning the livestock industry. The winner of this award will receive $250 and a permanent trophy.

The 6th Annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be held. Prizes for this show are provided by the International Arabian Horse Association. This contest will be held on Monday, October 4 beginning at 8 a.m.

For more information on the contest, contact Charles Itle, manager of the KILE Show. He can be reached at 717-787-2905.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

'Hay Train' Helps Drought-Stricken Farmers

OLEY (Berks Co.) — To help farmers in the East recover from a devastating drought, FFA members from Wrightstown, Wis., loaded trucks full of hay on Saturday, Sept. 11, for arrival here two days later.

Oley Valley FFA members gathered at Pikeville Equipment in Oley to unload the trucks. WRIGHTSTOWN FFA donated the hay. Brillion Iron Works, Brillion, Wis., donated the trucks for transportation and drivers volunteered their time to haul the hay.

Pull-Type Forage Harvesters Meet Higher Horsepower Needs

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — New Holland's popular pull-type forage harvesters are more productive than ever, with two new models geared up for more capacity to meet the requirements of higher horsepower users.

The Model FP230 pull-type forage harvester is designed for use with a maximum tractor PTO hp of 225 and has a 1,000 rpm driveline. The Model FP240 is New Holland's highest-capacity pull-type forage harvester. It's designed for use with a maximum tractor PTO hp of 300 and has a 1,000 rpm driveline. It has a larger throat size (25-1/2-inch vs. 23 1/8-inch x 21-inch for the FP230) and wider cutterhead to allow top-capacity chopping.

Both models feature a rugged 12-knife higher-capacity fan cutterhead which efficiently produces a uniform chop without a recutter screen for faster harvesting. Optional recutter screens, which produce an even finer chop, are available.

Knife-sharpening and shearbar adjustment are quick and easy with all-new, heavy-duty ball bearing rollers and a larger-diameter sharpening stone. The reversible shearbar is hardened on both top and sides for even wearing and extra-long life

PA DHIA Consulting Dairyman

Question: Our cows are milking well but our bulk tank shipments with daily pickups go up and down like a yo-yo. What can we do to level off daily production?

This herd averages between 67 and 71 pounds of daily milk and there are 80 cows in the herd. Their feeding program consists of a TMR fed during the day with pasture at night. Herd health seems to be good and the milking intervals are 12 hours. The same people do the feeding and the milking with relief help on the weekends. Inconsistency in the daily production started sometime in June continues today.

When we think that we do things the same day after day, we should expect the fruits of our labor to be nearly as consistent. Milk production and feed intakes usually parallel each other. In other words, feed conversion within a range of production stays the same. As an example, on test day this herd is reported to be eating 48 pounds dry matter including pasture. This in itself sounds reasonable. Test day average was 67 pounds and the lower milk pounds was blamed on a number of things including the DHIA technician. Bulk tank comparisons were right on line. Using these figures, we have an efficiency of 1.4 pounds milk for every pound of DMI. This would mean that on the high days at 71 pounds production the cows would eat nearly 51 pounds of dry matter.

Naturally, I proceeded to ask questions concerning the feeding management of this herd. It would be easy to blame the feed man since low production other than on test day is always his fault. Just in case there was something else causing our situation, I proceeded to inquire about specific amounts of TMR actually consumed. This is of utmost importance since it makes up nearly 90 percent of the predicted intakes and is the only factor that we really know about the amounts eaten. The same amount of feed is given to the cows each day. The amount of feed refusal is a bit of a mystery because the feed that is actually cleaned up in front of the cows is zero. Refusal feed is estimated at 5 percent one day and near zero the next. This is because refusal feed is left for the cows the next morning and a new TMR is fed after they are milked. When the cows clean up the feed for zero refusal they have to wait until normal time to get a meal.

Earlier in the year when there was something to eat in the pasture, this was not a problem. When these same paddocks are exercise lots, cows come in hungry. I believe that this variation in feed supply is the reason behind the milk pound variation. Given the opportunity to eat what she wants and needs, the cow will produce consistent amounts of milk.

Yes, this does seem like a solution that cannot work. It is too simple! Sometimes we need to stop and evaluate what we know to be the contributing factors to a problem. Not all problems are going to be solved this easily, but this time why not try it? After all, if that does not work, the tester and the feed man are still there to blame.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Cooperative Extension Agents Receive National Awards

OMAHA, Neb. — Four members of Penn State University's Cooperative Extension staff were among all the county agents in the United States who received awards at the 1999 annual meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

The awards program highlighted the annual meeting, where more than 1,800 extension agents and guests convened, review their responsibilities as educators, and attended professional improvement workshops.

These awards — the Achievement Award and the Distinguished Service Award — honor the top 2 percent of extension agents in each state for hard work and success.

Achievement Award

The Achievement Award award recognizes agents with less than 10 years of service to cooperative extension. Honored was Emelie Swackhamer, Lehigh County extension agent; and John Tyson, Erie extension agent.

Distinguished Service Award

Two members of Penn State University's Cooperative Extension staff are among agents in the U.S. who received the Distinguished Service Award. Honored was Alan Michael, Dauphin County extension agent, and David Filson, Mifflin County extension agent.

This is the 61st year that the National Association of County Agricultural Agents has awarded the honor.

John Tyson has developed a program of dairy housing in western Pennsylvania. The basis of this program has been cow comfort, dairy facilities design and layout, and feed storage. The main focus of this program has been individual assistance and design. Since 1995 Tyson has completed more than 300 farm visits with more than 75 individual designs. He has also authorized fact sheets dealing with site selection, ventilation, and feed center design along with co-authoring idea plans for freestall, heifer, and dry cow housing used by producers, builders, and fellow agents.

Emelie Swackhamer has worked with green industry professionals to encourage adoption of IPM practices. She has organized seminars, taught at in-depth training schools, and led hands-on troubleshooting workshops for landscape problems. Swackhamer coordinated production of a statewide series of fact sheets that will educate the public about IPM practices in the landscape. She serves as an adviser to the local Professional Grounds Management Society branch and co-coordinator of the Southeast Pennsylvania IPM Research Group.

Alan Michael has developed a comprehensive education and applied research program for commercial growers of ornamental crops in south-central Pennsylvania. He has assisted in developing the first greenhouse crop management association in Pennsylvania, works with growers to adopt IPM and biocontrol practices, and evaluates new cultural techniques. Michael has directed the raising of more than $50,000 for construction of greenhouse growing facilities to support the nationally recognized Penn State annual and perennial flower variety trial program.

Dave Filson is county extension director for two counties. He has successfully obtained county funding to add additional staff in each county. He has been instrumental in the establishment of a private woodlot council for local landowners. Workshops and meetings address forest stewardship, management, timber harvesting, legal issues for landowners, environmental issue, and other forestry concerns. Filson also works very closely with a 200-member Amish Milk Marketing Cooperative which annually returns more than $5 million to the members. Filson meets monthly with the officers and directors and advises them on milk quality, plant and farm sanitation, labor issues, state and federal regulations, marketing, and other concerns affecting producers and the cooperative.

Barn Owl Has Arrived

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Pa. DHIA is taking orders on a first-come, first-served basis for a new generation of dairy herd management software with point and click operations that brings the power of Microsoft Windows® to your desktop or parlor.

For just one low price of $299.95 plus tax, Pa. DHIA dairymen can receive the new Barn Owl 2000 program which includes herd managment, heifer management and lab analysis programs.

Heifer 98 and lab*Analyst* are also sold separately. Milk components such as fat, protein, lactose, somatic cell count and milk urea nitrogen can be downloaded into lab*Analyst* directly from Pa. DHIA, giving the somatic cell report, milk urea nitrogen report, and other important herd management tools the second they are available. Imagine going to work, immediately balancing the ration and identifying hot cows.

Graphing and generation of tailor-made reports that you want, along with Internet access through the worldwide web for convenience in today's high-paced world, makes Barn Owl 2000 the best software available for dairymen wanting to be on the cutting edge of technology. Setting parameters for breeding, vet checks, and growth information as well as herd health, pregnancy, and treatment codes allows for plenty of flexibility. Feed inventory such as feeds fed, feed history, feed cost, and other pertinent nutrition information are also included in Barn Owl 2000. System requirements include Windows® 95, 98 NT disk space of 25 Mb with 16 Mb of RAM.

A great price break for Pa. DHIA dairymen that are updating from another herd management program is $159.95 plus tax for the complete Barn Owl 2000 package. Dairymen updating Dairy Plan purchased from Pa. DHIA get a free copy of Barn Owl 2000.

Program updates and support include version 1.1 the next update, as a complimentary update. The manual on CD with program is free; however, a hard copy would be an extra $15. This program is an easy self-installing program which is also Y2K compliant.

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Lori Connelly said that she is shocked and honored to be selected as the state dairy princess. "The dairy industry is one we should all take great pride in," said the Centre County representative.

32 County Dairy Princesses Vie For State Crown

Proud To Represent The Dairy Industry

LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin County) — Those who think all pageants are mere beauty contests filled with pomp and circumstance are wrong.

The 43rd annual Dairy Princess Coronation held at the Sheraton Inn, Harrisburg, last Saturday night held all the splendor of a magnificent event. On stage, the 32 county dairy princesses glowed with excitment, their evening gowns shimmering in the dim lighting as they filled the stage.

But the overlying atmosphere was not dependent on aesthetics, but on the verbal expressions that sparkled with enthusiasm and knowledge of the dairy industry. These contestants wanted the crown because they are passionate about dairying, the farm, and the products from it.

"The dairy industry is one we should all take great pride in," said Lori Connelly after being selected Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

Lori is the daughter of Denise and Ronald Connelly of Fairbrook Farms, Pennsylvania Furnace. She is studying dairy and animal science at Penn State.

Selected as first alternate was Amanda Gilkinson of Erie County. Second alternate is Rebecca Kilgore of York County.

Judging for the event is actually conducted over a two-day period. By pageant night, the top winners in the speech competition, skit presentation, and scrapbook had already been named. Part of the programing includes the winners giving their speeches and presentations.

Lori's prizewinning speech zeroed in on "Life Without the Dairy Cow," in which she talked about life in a bovine-free environment where milk's anticarcinogens would no longer fight against cancer and bone-crippling disease, where research from studying cattle embryos didn't reap scientific insight into human embryos, and many cosmetics would be devoid of the ingredient milk for healthy skin care.

The dairy cow is leading society into a new era where "we should make the most of all she has to offer," Lori said.

Amanda Gilkinson of Erie County, who later was crowned First Alternate, was also a speech award winner. She talked about her dairy farm, her roles as a former dairy maid and as a county princess, and the positive rewards of growing up on the farm.

Presentation awards went to Lancaster County Dairy Princess Elisa Ranck, who portrayed Inspector Bovine in search of the creature who produces a life-sustaining substance. Angela Adams, representing Wyoming-Lackawanna Counties, dressed in sunbonnet and apron to recite Mother Cow's Rhymes, humorous ditties that she composed such as a cat who wouldn't drink imitation dairy products.

Recognized for honorable mention presentations were Amanda Grossman, Chester County, and Jane Answell, Fayette County.

Honorable mention for speech awards went to Lauren Daubert, Clinton County, and Melinda Martin, Franklin County.

Scrapbook awards went to Kathryn Hanna, Mercer County, and Ashley Carper, Huntingdon County. Receiving honorable mention for scrapbooks were Lori Connelly and Amanda Martin, Lebanon County.

Seven finalists were selected by judges to answer the impromptu question. In addition to the top three winners, the finalists included Melinda Martin, Franklin County; Angela Adams, Wyoming-Lackawanna County; Liza Haas, Perry County; and Jane Ansell, Fayette County

The seven finalists were required to answer the impromptu question: Use one word to describe yourself and why.

All of the finalists used a different word to describe themselves. All answered with clarity and poise.

Lori used the word "ambitious" to describe herself. She said that being raised on a dairy farm taught her to set goals and to accomplish them.

First Alternate Amanda used the word "energetic" to describe hereself. She said that she takes an upbeat view when tackling problems and loves to meet new people.

Second Alternate Rebecca used the word "enthusiastic" to describe herself. She said that she endeavors to tackle every duty with enthusiasm. Of dairy promotion she said, "If I am not enthusiastic about promoting dairy products, no one else will be either."

Other answers ran the gamut from "smiling" by Franklin County's contestant and "fun loving" by Lackawanna's, "laughable" by Perry County's, to "efficent" by the Fayette County contestant.

The pageant isn't a one-night scramble for contestants to fake interest in the dairy industry. Instead, most of the contestants have immersed themselves in active involvement in dairy and ag-related clubs. The dairy princess and alternates selected had all served as former dairy maids in their respective counties.

Lori is a member of Mt. Nittany 4-H Club. She was a state representative to the National 4-H Dairy Conference and to Ag Progress Days.

A member of both the Centre County and the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association, Lori has seerved as president and executive committee member and on the junior and senior dairy bowl teams. At State College High School, Lori was a high honor student and received the Maroon and Gray and Power of the Pawas awards. She raises and shows Holsteins and market swine.

First Alternate Amanda Gilkinson works on the family's 200-acre Mi-Ra Crest Dairy Farm in Wattsburg. With her parents Ralph and Michele Gilkinson, and a brother Stephen, Amanda helps with the 70-head herd of Holsteins and shows dairy cattle.

Amanda is a member of Dairy Dippers 4-H and the 4-H advisory committtee. A senior at Seneca High School, Amanda is president of student council and of the District 1 student council, a member of the National Honor Society, and the track and volleyball teams.

Second Alternate Rebecca is the daughter of Douglas and Pamela Kilgore. They live on the 320-acre McCalls Ferry Farm. Rebecca owns seven of the 120 Holsteins on the farm. She belongs to the 4-H dairy club, York County Dairy Council, and enjoys showing and judging cattle.

A senior at Red Lion Area Senior High School, Rebecca belongs to National Honor Society, SADD, Future Leaders of York Alumni Law Explorers, plays field hockey and softball, and was in the school musical.

Named Miss Congeniality was Jackie Rae Schriner, Bradford County. The award is the only one that contestants themselves select through voting. Jackie, daughter of Steve and Terry Schriner, Ulster, is studying mass communications at Penn College of Technology, Williamsport.

The Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award, given in memory of the 1985-86 Huntingdon County dairy princess who promoted the dairy industry whil fighting a losing battle with cancer, is presented annually to the county dairy princess who is judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry based on the number and types of appearances and the local circumstances under which she served.

In her final official moment as last year's year state dairy princess, Jennifer Dotterer said, "I was, and always will be, proud to say that I am a dairy farmer's daughter." Escorting her is dad Larry Dotterer.

The award is presented to a county dairy princess after she has represented the industry for 12 months. Jessica Bailor, former Juniata County dairy princess, was selected for being named "Promoter of the Month" six times and runner-up three times during her reign. She travelled more than 10,000 miles within the county and distributed about 13,000 recipes and more than 61,000 promotional items.

In her farewell speech, 1998-1999 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Jennifer Dotterer said, "Last year was the happiest day of my life, and today is the saddest." Jennifer said that she considered it a great honor to represent the dairy industry.

She thanked dairy farmers for giving her an industry and a product to be proud to promote. "You are not just caretakers of livestock and crops, you are a combination of many jobs rolled into one....Be proud of what you do and who you are. Your children give the dairy industry a bright and shining future.

"Although my reign as dairy princess may be over, you will always be able to fine me promoting the industry and the products I love. I was, and always will be, proud to say that I am a dairy farmer's daughter."

Although not all of the 32 contestants received an award, Dotterer reminded them, "Each of you are a winner just by being here. You are our foundation. Without you, we couldn't do our job."

Jan Harding, PPDPS executive director, said that each year, the state princess and alternates become like daughters to her.

Judges for the event not only scored contestants during pageant festivities but also during the two days before the banquet. In addition to personal interviews, the contestants are observed during informal meetings with judges.

To encourage impartial judging, judges are required to be from a state other than Pennsylvania. This year's judges included Chip Pratt, N.Y.; Jace Cadwallader, N.J.; Dawn Downey, Md.; and Norma Koch, Ind.

Speech judges included Pat Miller, Harrisburg; Brad Jones, Harrisburg; and Gordon Hiller, Williamsport.

Family members congratulating Lori Connelly are parents, Denise and Ronald; Chris, brother, and Keri, sister.

Scrapbook judges were Deborah Mathers, N.Y., and Debra Summerall, Harrisburg.

Grover Gouker, Lancaster, served as master of ceremonies.

Prospective princesses must come from a dairy farm or dairy-related background, own dairy animals, or they or their parents must be employed in the dairy industry or an agribusiness that serves it. Contestants must be single, between the ages of 16 and 24. They must possess knowledge, poise, and speaking ability to fulfill the duties of being spokespersons for the industry.

After selected at the county level, dairy princesses received intensive instructions on the dairy industry and nutrition, public speaking, working with the media, social conduct, and personal appearance.

They work to increase the sale and consumption of dairy products and the public awareness of the importance of the dairy industry to Pennsylvania's economy.

Wanda Yoder, coordinator for the central district of the state, with daughter Marcia Kuhns, bookkeeper for PDPPS, sell about 400 tickets for the pageant.

We suspected it mid-summer

Indeed, the weather experts cautioned us about the probability.

It was on our minds amidst the extreme heat, the extreme humidity, the extreme dry. When lake beds were turning to stone-strewn, barren dry patches. When lawns turned cactus-friendly When the cows drank and our water lines filled with burping air and multitudes of bubbles.

The weather experts warned us. Remember?

Droughts are usually solved by floods.

What a quirky joke of Mother Nature to tackle one weather disaster with another.

And while the Great Drought of '99 may not be completely obliterated, the edges of it have been rounded a bit by the five-plus inches of blessed rain delivered by Hurricane Floyd to southern York County.

Our faithful underground spring is somewhat rejuvenated and more stable that it has been in months. The ponds are filling back up to their normal bank levels. And the stream down through the meadow gurgles over small stones and mini-sandbars.

While Floyd wreaked destruction and devastation up and down the East Coast, the storm was mostly a moisture blessing to this immediate neighborhood. That, and some firewood supplies for the next couple of winters when Floyd shook lose a few aged, failing trees around the meadow edges.

Even the cows seemed to almost enjoy the rain, munching hay in the muddying ground and letting the tropical downpour shower summer's dust off their backs. One old cow, though, who gave birth early to twins in the middle of the hurricane's height, took her bull and heifer newborns out through the dry lot fence and right to the cozy shelter of the machine shed. Just as though she had a confirmed reservation at a fine hotel.

Actually, it's more like a bed and breakfast. The Farmer carried bottles of fresh colostrum to the babies, to make certain that their stay in the temporary quarters was a well-fed one. And her deliberate claim of the shed's shelter in the deluge further reinforces our long-time beliefs that there are few "dumb" animals.

Floyd's legacy, though, has the farmstead almost looking like we've turned the clock back or ahead to spring.

Almost as soon as the forage harvester had gobbled up and spit out into the trucks the summer's growth of corn, the grain drill passed over dropping a combination of oats and rye seed. The Farmer dubs it "succotash" for cows (for the popular veggie mix of corn and lima beans). In the wake of plentiful surface moisture and bright, cool days, the grass blend is greening-up nicely. It will provide double value; fall grazing for the "girls" and cover crop on the harvested fields against winter erosion.

Our flower beds have gotten a second lease on life, with late dahlias spreading wide blooms and the zinnias pushing out dozens of lovely cutting blossoms. Even the tomato patch looks refreshed, sporting lots of green fruit and perky foliage. And a couple of hills of squash I tucked into the south-facing bank at the barn have responded with lush growth and at least one zucchini ready to stir-fry

As the sun rises later and sets sooner with each passing day, the furnace has already grumbled to life against the seasonal early morning chilliness In an offensive mood, I've dug the floating row cover out of summer storage These days of fresh backyard produce are fast dwindling and the battle is on to maximize the shrinking window of gardening time

It's a battle I will lose

Roadside Market Trends

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Producers and beginning farmers who would like to learn about establishing a road side market are invited to attend a Pennsylvania Farm Link sponsored meeting at Swamp Fox Farms on October 5, at 6:30 p.m.

The meeting will take place at the farm market and include a presentation by owner, Brud McCabe, on how he got started in farming, his market's products, his marketing plan and strategy.

Lee Bentz, integrated pest management coordinator of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will provide an introduction to integrated pest management and resources for farmers

Information on marketing trends and tips for developing roadside markets will be included in the meeting To complete the evening, Farm Link will offer information on their services and a preview of upcoming activities and events.

To get to Swamp Fox Farms from Glen Rock, turn left onto Route 216 West and another left at the light onto Route 616 South. At the fork in the road bear right and then a second right onto Fissel's Church Road Take the first left onto Country Club Road, the farm stand is on the left in the red barn

Contact Pennsylvania Farm Link at (717) 664-7077 to let them know of your planned attendance and for additional information on other marketing events. Farm Link is sponsoring a series of marketing meetings to assist beginning farmers and others looking for marketing opportunities

Apple Appeal

Food scientists at Cornell University didn't set out to prove Mom was right, but new research suggests people should eat more apples and not spit out the skins.

"An apple a day could very well keep the doctor away," said Chang Lee, food chemists at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, N.Y.

"Increasing dietary consumption of fresh apples—with skins on—provides additional phytochemicals that have a long-term health benefit and may prevent or reduce the risk of some chronic disease," Lee said.

Apples contain naturally-occurring chemical compounds known as phytochemicals, polyphenols, or flavonoids, some of which have been proven to have antioxidant activity that inhibits, or scavenges, the activity of free radicals in the body. Cell damage from free radicals can be a factor in certain cancers, heart disease, strokes, and other conditions.

"Apples are available year round, are relatively inexpensive, and a good source of fiber and Vitamin C," said Lee. "Why shouldn't we eat at least one apple a day?"

APPLE-PEAR TART

Pie crust
2 medium apples, peeled, thinly sliced
2 medium pears, peeled, thinly sliced
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup raisins
¼ cup peach preserves
2 tablespoons melted butter

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Place bottom pie crust in 10-inch tart pan with removable bottom. Pat in bottom and up sides of pan. Trim around edges. In large bowl, combine apples, pears, sugar, flour, and nutmeg; mix well. Spoon half of fruit mixture into tart pan. Sprinkle raisins over fruit. Spoon remaining fruit mixture over raisins. In small bowl, combine preserves and butter; spoon over fruit. Cut half of remaining pie crust into 8 wedges. Arrange over fruit with narrow point of each wedge at center of pie; press at edge to seal. Brush wedges with milk and sprinkle with sugar, if desired.

Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees. Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until fruit is tender and crust is golden brown. If crust is browning too quickly, place foil over tart during last 10 or 15 minutes of baking.

CREAMY APPLE DIP

1 package cream cheese
¾ cup packed sugar
1 cup sour cream
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup cold milk
3.4-ounce package instant vanilla pudding

In a mixing bowl, beat sugar and cream cheese until smooth. Add remaining ingredients, beating well after each addition. Cover and chill at least one hour. Slice up some apple and serve to friends and family for a delicious and healthy snack.

CHEDDAR APPLE BARS

⅓ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ cup butter, melted
1 egg
1 cup rolled oats
¾ cup whole wheat flour
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded apple, unpeeled
¾ cup shredded cheddar cheese
½ cup raisins
⅓ cup toasted chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine sugar, butter, and egg in medium bowl. Add combined dry ingredients to egg mixture with apple, cheese, raisins, and walnuts, mix well.

Pat mixture into buttered 9-inch square pan. Bake 15-18 minutes or until center is set but not firm. Remove from oven and cool completly in pan on wire rack. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered at room temperature up to two days. For longer storage, wrap bars individually and freeze up to three weeks. Toast nuts by spreading them in an even layer in a shallow baking pan. Place in 325 degree oven, toast for 5-10 minutes, stirring occasionally, just until lightly browned. Remove from pan and cool completely.

Noreen Rouse
Sullivan Co. Dairy Princess

WARM APPLE SPICE CAKE

Pound cake
21-ounce can apple pie filling
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Cinnamon ice cream

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Slice pound cake in half horizontally. Place the two halves in 8x8-inch pan. In medium bowl, combine apple pie filling, cinnamon, and nutmeg; mix well. Spoon apple mixture over cake. Bake at 425 degrees for 10-15 minutes or until warm. Serve warm with cinnamon ice cream, if desired. Serves 6.

Eating unpeeled, fresh apples is the best way to capture all the health benefits apples offer.

APPLE CINNAMON MILK PUNCH

1 gallon milk
12-ounce can frozen apple concentrate
1½ quarts vanilla ice cream
Cinnamon
Nutmeg

Add all ingredients in a bowl and mix until frothy. Add cinnamon and nutmeg to taste.

Amanda Martin
Lebanon Co. Dairy Princess

APPLESAUCE

Quantity: An average of 21 pounds apples are needed per canner load of 7 quarts. A bushel apples weighs 48 pounds and yields 14 to 19 quarts sauce.

Wash, peel, core apples. If desired, slice apples into water containing ascorbic acid to prevent browning. Place drained slices in an 8- to 10-quart pot. Add ½ cup water. Stirring occasionally to prevent burning, heat quickly until tender (5 to 20 minutes depending on maturity and variety). Press through a sieve or food mill, or skip the pressing step if you prefer chunk-style sauce. Sauce may be packed without sugar or add ½ cup sugar per quart sauce. Taste and add more if preferred. Reheat sauce to boiling. Fill jars with hot sauce, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids and process.

In hot water bath, boil pints for 15 minutes; quarts for 20 minutes. For pressure canners, boil 8 minutes for pints and 10 minutes for quarts at 5 pounds pressure.

Featured Recipe

The new state dairy princess is Lori Connelly from Pennsylvania Furnace, Center County. Lori was selected from 32 county dairy princesses who competed for the state crown last Saturday night in Harrisburg.

Lori is a "real" farm girl who has lots of dairy promotion experience. She served three years as a dairymaid in Centre County before competing for the dairy princess crown.

On the 500-acre family farm, Lori helps raise Holsteins and market swine. She has been active in many agricultural-related activities.

Read about the pageant and the enthusiasm Lori and the other dairy princesses bring to dairy promotion on page B2.

One of the things dairy princesses do is hand out lots of recipes to encourage people to use dairy products in cooking. Here is one of Lori's favorite recipes.

CHICKEN LASAGNA

1 cup creamy-style cottage cheese
3-ounces cream cheese, softened, cut up
1 can mushroom soup
1 cup frozen broccoli
⅓ cup sliced celery
⅔ cup boiling water
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon dried onion
¼ teaspoon oregano
6 lasagna noodles
1 cup chopped, cooked chicken
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese

In bowl, stir cottage cheese and cream cheese, set aside. In bowl, combine soup, broccoli, celery, milk, onion, and oregano. Place two uncooked lasagna noodles in greased 10x6x2-inch baking dish. Layer half the cottage cheese mixture and ⅓ soup mixture. Repeat layers of noodles, cottage cheese, and soup. Top with remaining noodles, cottage cheese, and soup mixture. Sprinkle with cheddar cheese. Slowly pour boiling water into dish around entire inside edge. Cover with foil and bake at 350-degrees for 65 minutes, let stand covered for 10 minutes. Serves 8.

Extension Family Living Agents Learn About Extension and Family Life in Poland

It was a sunny morning in May, a day after our arrival in Poland. The temperature was about 10°C (50°F) and I and seven other family and consumer science extension educators from Pennsylvania, and New York were headed south out of Krakow, Poland. We rode in a comfortable touring bus with our driver, Grzegorz, and our translator, Aneta, a young woman who had just graduated with a degree in English. It was the beginning of a 3,667 km (approximately 2400 mi.) journey which would take us in a circle throughout Poland.

During our three-week stay, we visited three regional and 11 local extension centers. We observed and participated in extension programs being conducted by rural household specialists (extension professionals who work with families in rural areas), toured an agricultural school and a Center for Environmental Education and lived with Polish families. We talked with persons from government, Women's Circles, and other social organizations, small business enterprises and agrotourism homes, and participated in 4-H Club meetings and a regional competition. Our study also included visits to several historic landmarks, including the 700-year-old salt mine at Wicliczka, Warasw Old Town Centre (totally destroyed during the war and then finely reconstructed), the Royal City of Krakow (1000 years old and named the European City of Culture for the year 2000), and the Auschwitz-Birkenau Camp in Oswiecim, all of which are on the UNESCO World Heritage List.

A highlight of our study was visiting with Polish families in the rural areas. In Poland, anyone with more than one hectare (2.5 acres) can be a farmer. There are no requirements based on income from this property and persons receive lower taxes and insurance. This policy increases the number of small farms. Many rural Polish families, trying to survive in the new market economy have begun developing an agrotourism business. The extension service provides education and training to help interested families. One family, Janina and Josef, live in the southern mountain region of Poland with their son Mark. Here the soil is poor for farming but the natural beauty of the land is popular for tourists. They have turned their land into a ski resort used primarily by families with children from in the urban areas. Josef, who has a mechanical background, built his own ski lift, and does ski service and repairs. His wife does the cooking for guests, and their son Mark, who is attending hotel and tourism school, is applying what he is learning to improve the family business. Their enthusiasm and hard work is paying off. They have expanded their business to include artificial snow, are planning to add an additional 20 sleeping rooms and build a restaurant to seat 120 persons.

Polish families do not usually borrow money to construct homes. They build as money becomes available. Adult children inherit farms from their parents while the parents are still living. It is not uncommon to find three generations of families living together.

We were invited to share dinner with a three generation family living in Bydgoszcz province and learn about their ecological farm, one of six in the region and one of 220 in Poland. Traditionally, Polish families eat their main meal in the mid-afternoon. The meal always begins with soup, and is followed by the main course. We sat down to a table that extended the entire length of the living room. The Poles take great pride in beautiful table appointments and presentation of food. Hot chicken stock was ladled from big tureens into bowls filled with noodles at each place setting. Our main course included roast chicken, stuffed steak rolls, pork cutlet, gelatin with fruit, potatoes, salad, celery and apple salad, steamed cabbage, mushrooms, were served family style. A fresh fruit compote was the drink. A tempting plate of various Polish desserts including the popular Polish cheesecake, Poppyseed cake and cake with fresh fruits topped off the meal.

More than 90 percent of the plant products were obtained from the family's garden and orchard located near the house. Later, we worked off our meal by touring the family's 21 hectare farm and were very impressed by the extreme cleanliness and neatness of this well-organized farm. There was even a special house for the dog!

Polish customs and traditions play an important role in family life. Four groups, preschoolers, elementary school children, teen-agers and adults dressed in colorful ethnic costumes, entertained us in a community celebration for mothers on Mothers Day, held the fourth Thursday in May. On a cool and rainy religious holiday, we were swept into a parade with thousands of family members who were parading through the streets of Krakow singing hymns and praying.

We returned from our study with knowledge about a country we really knew little about or had much interest in previous to our visit with a strong admiration for the Polish people, their warmth and hospitality. We learned ways Polish families are managing resources, addressing family well-being, environmental issues, and children's education that we want to use with our own families and families in our extension audiences.

If you would like to learn more about the extension international study seminar, are interested in having one of the participants speak to your group, or have an interest in participating in an international study seminar focusing on agrotourism development in Poland, please contact me at the Allgegheny County Cooperative Extension Office, phone (412) 473-2540

Control Bag Worms

YORK (York Co.) — Bagworms can be very destructive and should be controlled. If they are hanging from your arborvitae like Christmas ornaments, they are too large and well protected for sprays. Wait until winter, and remove and destroy as many of the bags as you can reach. You will be removing the eggs that will hatch into more bagworms next summer. Monitor your trees until June, and look for newly hatched larva. These small catepillars are vunerable and can be sprayed with Bacillus thuringiensis.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — A reader wants a recipe for Grasshopper Pie using creme de mente flavoring and which can be frozen.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if it's possible to make puffed wheat or puffed rice without much financial investment.

QUESTION — Gerald Nuxoll, Boise, Id., wanted the exact recipe for rice pudding that James Michenor describes on pages 4 and 5 of his book, "The Novel." The oven-cooked recipe started with a mixture of rice, milk, eggs, and sugar. After a period of time, cinnamon and raisins were added. Nuxoll has been able to find lots of stovetop recipes but wants an oven recipe. The book setting was in the area covering Lancaster, Berks, Lehigh Counties.

QUESTION — Kris and Susan, readers from New Jersey, want a great recipe for baking Amish-type hard pretzels at home.

QUESTION — A subscriber wants a recipe to make a soft, tasty bread using both whole wheat flour and white flour.

QUESTION — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, wants to know how to prevent soggy pie crust bottoms. Her pies appear to be cooked except the bottom crust is doughy.

QUESTION — A York reader is looking for a recipe for apple walnut bread with sugar topping. She said the recipe appeared in this paper under "apple topics" a few years ago. Did anyone clip the recipe? Send it in please.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, would like recipes for canning cantaloupes and for using gray hubbard squash.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, lost her recipe for Impossible Pineapple Pie, anyone have one for her? Shirley writes (with a smile) that she would be lost without this paper because her hubby says that she can't even boil water without a recipe.

QUESTION — Evan Weidman, Newville, would like a recipe to make a large amount of barbecue sauce.

QUESTION — Donna Girardin, Campbell Hall, N.Y., would like a recipe for "half-sour pickles," which she said are often sold at flea markets and fairs. Would appreciate canning instructions to go with it.

QUESTION — Elmer McGowan, Millerstown, wants a recipe to make tongue souse.

QUESTION — Phyllis Stauffer, Carlisle, wants a recipe that Little Caesar's used to have. It was a buttery dip with herbs that they served with breadsticks.

QUESTION — Charles Ensor, Sparks, Md., would like a recipe for sweet Italian sausage.

QUESTION — A reader would like recipes to use barley in stews, as a whole-grain breakfast cereal, etc.

QUESTION — Dianne Decker, Shippensburg, wants a recipe for Shaker Pie, which is a very wet pie made with coconut.

QUESTION — Fern Gerth would like a recipe for lime marmalade.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where to buy Swiss cheese with a touch of ham and blue cheese by the roll or pound. She can find these items in 4-ounce packages, but they are very expensive. She would also like to know where to buy shrimp chips in a big box.

QUESTION — Arlene from Snyder County would like recipes for Swiss Chard.

QUESTION — Lou Ann Sutter, Lebanon, wants to know where she can buy Cento Stuffed Cherry Peppers, only this item, not other Cento products.

QUESTION — Mike would like to know where to purchase goat and sheep milk in Schuylkill County.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know how to can tiny ears of corn, which she understands is harvested from field corn when it is 2- to 3-inches in length before the tassle begins to show. She found a recipe that is for immediate use, but her family can't eat them that fast so she wants to can the tiny ears in jars. The recipe is for pickling baby ears, but she would like a recipe to can without pickling so that she can use them in dishes such as chow mein.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, would like to know how to make cream of wheat or cream of farina from soft or hard wheat berries using a grain mill. Also, wants cookings instructions.

QUESTION — Cindy Pudliner, New Holland, would like the recipe for the biscuit sold at the restaurant called Joey's, which was located beside the Comfort Inn in New Holland. She used to order the Sausage and biscuits for breakfast. The biscuit made a light, fluffy cake biscuit.

QUESTION — A.W. Good, East Earl, would like to know where to buy Kosher Jel. A previous source is no longer available because the plant burned down.

QUESTION — Barb Gaugher, Mansfield, wanted a recipe for Kosher barrel pickles like those sold at deli counters.

QUESTION — Brenda Houser, Middletown, would like a recipe to make cookies that taste like the ones served at Shady Maple Smorgasboard. The varieties that she likes are Chocolate Chip Truffle, which has a chocolate batter with chocolate chips in it and a soft chocolate center, and Peanut Butter Truffle, which has a peanut butter batter with chopped nuts and a soft peanut butter filling.

QUESTION — K. B., York Springs, would like a recipe to make rotisserie chicken that tastes like that made by Rutters' Mini Market.

ANSWER — Wanda Boop, Mifflinburg, wanted recipes for making goat's cheese. She also has goat milk for sale, for which you can contact her at R.2, Box 80, Mifflinburg, PA 17844. Thanks to another reader who sent in numerous recipes for different requests. Unfortunately, when no name is attached, we can not give credit to the person for taking so much time to send in answers. When answering a request, please make sure to include your name, and designated the request that is being answered.

Goat Milk Cheese

2 gallons goat's milk
3 tablespoons salt
¼ rennet tablet

If you cannot find rennet tablets in your supermarket, you can purchase them from New England Cheesemaking Supply Co., 85 Main St., Ashfield, MA 01330.

Dissolve rennet tablet in a little bit of water. Heat milk to lukewarm or a little warmer. Add rennet to milk to which salt has been added. Turn off heat and let set for an hour or two. Cut up thickened milk with wooden spoon and heat until nearly too hot to keep hand in. Strain and press for 6-8 hours. Refrigerate and start using in a day or two. Usually can slice with a knife.

Variation: For more flavor, 2 quarts of milk may be slightly sour.

Hard Cheese

2 gallons goat's milk heated to 85 degrees. Add ¼ rennet tablet. Let set up. Cut into curds. Stir with hand for 15 minutes. Slowly heat to 102 degrees letting temperature go up 1.5 degrees every 5 minutes for about an hour.

When curd holds shape in hand and falls apart, turn off heat. Stir every 10 minutes for an hour until a pressed handful can easily be shaken apart. Strain and mix in 2 tablespoons salt. Tie up and drip for 30 minutes. Make a patty 6-inches across and smooth out cracks. Wrap bandage around outside. Press with two boards 8-10 hours. Turn and again press 8-10 hours. Let dry several hours and cover with melted paraffin. Store in cool place, turning occasionally, about a month. Wipe mold with salty water.

ANSWER — Lenora Kumler, Duncannon, wanted a recipe for flap jacks. Thanks to Julia Hoover, Ephrata, and to Jacinda Sensenig, Quarryville, for sending the same recipe — so it must be a good one.

Flap Jacks

2 whole eggs
6 egg yolks
1½ cups flour
Salt
2 cups milk

Combine all ingredients and beat to make a thin batter. Heat a lightly greased skillet or griddle. Pour enough batter to make a flap jack the size of a medium plate, less than ⅛ -inch thick. Turn like pancakes. Stack on hot plate. Serve hot with maple syrup or sprinkle with sugar.

Apple Appeal

GLAZED APPLE PIE BARS

Crust:
2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter, chilled
1 egg, separated, yolk beaten with enough milk to equal ⅔ cup, reserve white

Filling:
1 cup crushed corn flakes
8 cups tart cooking apples, peeled, sliced
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon, divided usage
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 reserved egg white
2 tablespoons sugar

Glaze:
1 cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 to 2 tablespoons milk

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In medium bowl, combine flour and salt; cut in butter until crumbly. With fork, stir in egg yolk and milk until dough forms a ball; divide in half. On lightly floured surface, roll half of dough into 15½ x10½ -inch rectangle; place on bottom of jelly-roll pan. Sprinkle with corn flakes, top with apples.

In small bowl, combine 1 cup sugar, 1¼ teaspoons cinnamon and nutmey. Sprinkle over apples. Roll remaining half of dough into 15x½ x½ -inch rectangle; place over apples.

Beat egg white with fork until foamy; brush over top crust. In small bowl, stir together 2 tablespoons sugar and remaining ½ teaspoon cinnamon; sprinkle over crust. Bake 45 to 60 minutes or until lightly browned.

In small bowl, stir together powdered sugar, vanilla, and enough milk for desired glazing consistency. Drizzle over warm bars. 36 bars.

APPLESAUCE CAKE

2½ cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon mace
½ cup butter
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 large egg
1½cups unsweetened applesauce
1 cup seedless raisins
½ cup walnuts, chopped

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Grease and flour 13x9x2-inch baking pan and set aside.

Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, cinnamon, cloves, and mace; set aside.

In a large mixing bowl, cream butter, add sugars, and egg and continue to cream. Add dry ingredients alternately with applesauce. Fold in raisins and nuts. Transfer to prepared pan and bake 45-50 minutes or until tester comes out clean. Cool on wire rack. Can be frosted with vanilla frosting, creamed cheese frosting or sprinkled with powdered sugar. Cut into desired size servings. 12-15 servings.

Dairy Scholarships Available

SYRACUSE, NY — Two $500 scholarships are available through the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC). College students pursing degrees in the dairy industry from ADADC's marketing area–including New York, northeastern Pennsylvania, and northern New Jersey–are eligible.

The Leo Briggs Memorial Scholarship is available to any collegiate individual who has promoted the dairy industry by exhibiting leadership in dairy industry organizations. Founded in 1983, the scholarship was established as a tribute to Leo Briggs for his superior leadership within the dairy industry for over 30 years.

A second $500 scholarship, the ADADC Memorial Scholarship, is available to former dairy princesses from ADADC's marketing area. The applicant must have completed one year as a dairy princess and one year of college, and must be pursing a career in dairy product marketing, dairy manufacturing, home economics, ag communications, or journalism. The scholarship is offered in memory of several ADADC staff and board members for their contributions to dairy promotion.

Both college scholarships are based on grade-point-average, extracurricular activities, future plans, and a 400-word essay discussing the applicant's commitment to a career in the dairy industry. Application deadline for both scholarships is Friday, November 5.

Scholarship applications are available through agricultural colleges in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, or by calling the ADADC office at (315) 472-9143. Both scholarships will be presented at he New York State Dairy Princess Pageant held in Syracuse, February 2000.

ADADC oversees the management of the scholarship accounts; however, neither scholarship is funded by dairy farmer check-off dollars. As a result, outside donations are critical to ensure the future availability of these scholarships. Any person or organization wishing to make a donation to either scholarship may do so by sending their checks to: Joanne Tills, 219 South West Street, Suite 100, Syracuse, NY 13202-1205, payable to ADADC.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Lynn Rossi wanted a recipe for marinated mushrooms. Here is a recipe sent in by an anonymous reader.

Marinated Mushrooms

1 pound large mushrooms
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon snipped chives
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
1 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves
½ cup bottled Italian-style dressing

Wash and dry mushrooms, thinly slice mushrooms into large bowl. Sprinkle with lemon juice and tarragon. Stir gently, add chives, parsley, and stir gently. Refrigerate one hour. Meanwhile combine:

¼ cup finely chopped pimiento
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Combine salad dressing, pimiento, salt, pepper, sugar, and mustard.

Stir to mix well. Refrigerate, covered, about 1 hour.

To serve: Toss mushrooms with dressing and arrange on a bed of lettuce or watercress on a large platter.

May also be stored in glass jar in the refrigerator for several days.

ANSWER — Mandy Hodecker wanted the recipe for key lime meringue pie. Thanks to Rachel S. Glick, New Holland, for sending a recipe.

Key Lime Pie

3 eggs, separated
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
½ cup lime juice
2 or 3 drops green food coloring, optional
9-inch unbaked pie crust
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
⅓ cup sugar

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. With mixer, beat egg yolks in medium-sized bowl; gradually beat in sweetened condensed milk and food coloring, if desired. Pour into pie crust.

Bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Increase oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Meanwhile for meringue, with clean mixer, beat egg whites with cream of tarter to soft peaks. Gradually beat in sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beat 4 minutes longer or until stiff, glossy peaks form and sugar is dissolved.

Immediately spread meringue over hot pie, carefully setting to edge of crust to prevent meringue from shrinking. Bake 15 minutes. Cool one hour. Chill at least 3 hours. Store leftovers covered in refrigerator.

ANSWER — A Pottsville reader wanted to know where to buy barley flour and other specialty flours. A reader wrote that specialty flours are sold at Walmart Super Centers. According to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, barley flour is available by mail-order from Brownville Mills in Nebraska. Call 1-800-305-7990.

ANSWER — Howard Pensack, Belvidere, N.J., wanted a recipe for pickled garlic. Thanks to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, for sending a recipe.

Pickled Garlic

Yield: 6 jars
2 pounds large garlic heads
⅓ pound fresh ginger, peeled and thinly sliced
1 cup coarse salt
7 dried red chilies
2 cups white wine vinegar
1 cup dry white wine
2½ tablespoons mustard seed

Combine garlic in large saucepan with enough water to cover. Place over medium heat and bring to a boil. Let boil 2 minutes. Drain thoroughly. When cool enough to handle, peel each clove without crushing. Transfer to non-metallic bowl. Add ginger and salt with enough water to cover. Refrigerate mixture for 2 days.

Drain garlic mixture and rinse thoroughly in cold water. Drain again. Pack ginger and garlic evnely into seven clean hot half-pint jars to ½ -inch from top. Add 1 chili to each jar. Combine vinegar, wine, and mustard seed in medium saucepan and bring to rapid boil over high heat. Ladle enough hot brine to cover garlic mixture.

Run a plastic knife or spatula between mixture and jar to release any air bubbles. Clean rim and threads of jar with damp cloth. Seal with new, scalded, very hot lid. Repeat with remaining jars. Transfer jars to gently simmering water bath (180-190 degrees) and process 10 minutes. Let cool on rack. Check for seal. Store in cool, dry place. Makes about six jars.

Mud and lard fly everywhere as Zachary Gosling grabs the runaway pig. The pigs seemed to have a good time running away, but they didn't like being caught.

"Got ya!" Zachary Gosling was the winner in the 6-8-year-old division.

Mud Splatters Even The Onlookers At Pig Chase

JOYCE FRYMYER

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — On Tuesday, Sept. 22, I witnessed my first pig chase at Ephrata Fair's 26th annual Pig Chase.

Our family laughed most of the time — and got splattered with mud.

But we didn't get as muddy as those chasing the lard-greased pigs. It was raining. The contestants were tripping and falling over each other as they zig-zagged across the mud-covered field in pursuit of the pig that had no intention of being caught.

It was the funniest thing to watch. Mud and lard were flying everywhere.

The 149 contestants were divided into different age groups. Rules needed to be followed. After being caught, the pig needed to be carried all the way back to the pen and gently put down. Once the pig was caught, no one was allowed to interfere in the struggle to get it back to the pen. If the pig wiggled free, the contest had to start over again. No metal spikes and mistreatment of the pigs were allowed in any way.

The elimination winners received a gift certificate and a blue ribbon. In the 6-8-year-old group, Zachary Gosling, Denver won. Jordan Slagle, Lititz, came in second. The champion in each class received a trophy and the proceeds from the sale of their pig.

Our family had a great time watching all those people get covered with mud and lard.

I asked my 6-year-old son Evan if he wanted to enter next year.

He said, "Maybe when I am older and stronger."

I know one thing. Everyone should experience watching a pig race. I think you'll be surprised how much fun you'll have. I know I was.

Jordan Slagle was second in the 6-8-year-old category of the Ephrata Fair Pig Chase.

Why do moths fly around porch lights?
It all comes down to a case of mistaken identity
To understand why moths and other night-time fliers dance around your glowing porch lights you first need a quick lesson in physics Think about the last time you went on a car ride in the country The telephone poles or towers a mile or more away from the car never seem to move at all But the telephone posts right next to the car whip by This phenomenon is called parallax (Say PEAR uh-lacks)
Moths and other flying insects trave at a 90 degree angle to the brightest light they see In most cases, that light is the moon or a bright star The moon is like the telephone post far away from the car — it's so far away from the moth that the moon never seems to move and the moth flies in a straight line This helps the moth get from point A to point B
But often moths mistake other lights, such as your light post, for the stars or moon In these cases the light post is like the telephone poles right next to the car Because of the short distance between the moth and the light the moth — flying at a 90 degree angle to the light — never reaches its destination It just spirals around the pole, and eventually it hits the light and bounces off
Not all flying insects get caught in the lights of your front porch But don't see that as they have a very hard time breaking away
Scientifically yours

Farm Women

Lancaster

On Sept. 18, Lancaster County Farm Women Society 3 traveled with husbands and guests to a buffet luncheon at Yoder's Restaurant, New Holland.

President Martha Stoner gave a prayer of thanks for the food. Later the program was presented by Jack Stoner. "Trains Etc." included slides illustrating trains, and tracks in the Rocky Mountains and other scenic sights. The unusual pictures of trains traveling through tunnels, on trestle bridges over chasms, and switch backs seem as if they were taken by someone suspended in midair. The program was unique, educational, and enjoyed by all in attendance.

Berks Society 1

Berks Society 1 of Farm Women held a doggie roast recently at the home of Evelyn Heacock. Men were invited.

Berks Heim Fest is Sept. 11. Members need to tend the hamburger stand.

Members signed a petition to have the Pleasantville Bridge repaired on Covered Bridge Rd. The bridge has been unuseable since 1993 causing many people to detour for many miles. It is reported that money is available but "somebody is dragging their legs."

Harvest Days

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — on Saturday, October 9 and October 10, celebrate "Harvest Days" at Landis Valley Museum. Experience harvest activities and living history at the largest Pennsylvania German museum in the country. More than 70 traditional craftspeople will be demonstrating and selling their unique crafts from broom making to walnut hulling and more. Admission is $7 for adults, $6.50 for ages 60 plus, and $5 for children 6-12. Parking is free. Landis Valley Museum is located on Rt. 272 (Oregon Pike), a marked exit off both Rt. 30 and Rt. 222. For more information call (717) 569-0401.

New York Dairy Princesses Receive Training

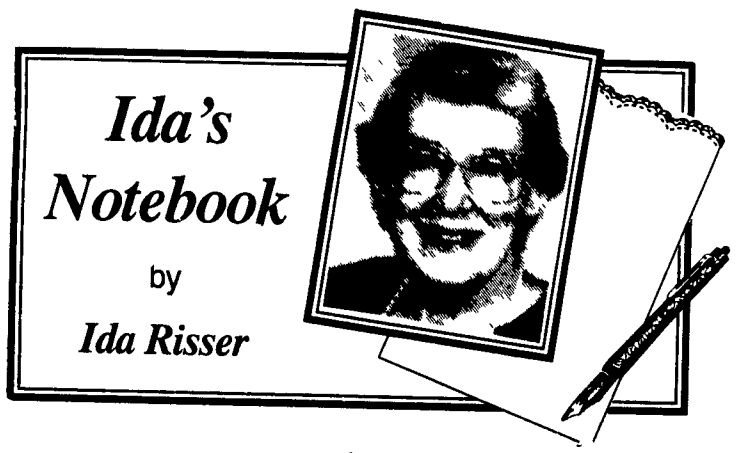
SYRACUSE, N.Y. – Acting as the local link to dairy farmers and consumers, dairy princesses are an important part of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc.'s (ADADC) promotion team. Recently ADADC conducted its annual dairy princess training program, focusing on areas that complement ADADC's marketing plan Some 34 county dairy princesses from across New York and two princesses from New Jersey attended the two-day training seminar held at White Eagle Conference Center in Hamilton, New York.

A tremendous amount of material was covered in those two short days. Among the topics covered were writing effective newspaper articles that contain milk messages, giving speeches and presentations to audiences of all ages, and tips on becoming better promoters.

In addition, ADADC chief executive officer Rick Naczi held a special session to explain the goals of ADADC, and show the girls how to set measurable short- and long-term goals for themselves.

On hand to help with school program demonstrations, were 1999-2000 New York State Dairy Princess JoAnna DeBlock, First Alternate Tiffany Drape, and Second Alternate Annissa Beckerink. Each one gave examples by presenting the school programs that they used during their reign as county princesses.

"Not only is the seminar a chance for the girls to learn valuable skills that will help them during their reign and in their future endeavors," said Deborah Mathers, industry relations for ADADC, and princess coordinator, "it also is an opportunity for them to come together as a group to get to know each other and have fun too!"



We have had rain. Not as much as some people but six inches in 24 hours was almost too much. The Conestoga River came over its banks and took fences with it as it flooded the meadow.

Even our basement suffered as a clogged drain at one end causing the water to flow under a door. We thought that was inconvenient until we discovered that wind-blown rain came in a closed window and soaked a 9 x 12 rug and smaller ones too. Guess we should be glad we have a dehumidifier.

How the weeds do grow now that the ground is soaked. We've been trying to get our strawberry patch in order. We still have two long rows of plants but how they will bear next year is to be seen. Even the yellow raspberries are giving us a few more berries this fall.

I've been reading about old bottles and jars. It seems that if only a few jars were manufactured to store fruit then they are more valuable than even older ones. People collect colored glass to put on their windowsills as the sun shining through the glass is very pretty.

I did not start out to collect fruit jars but somehow I have a few that are displayed on top of my kitchen cabinets. Some are blue Masons Patent Nov. 30, 1858 while others are marked with odd names. Some are "The Hero," "Red Mason" and "Star Crescent." Amber glass jars are considered more valuable than blue glass ones.

There are some yellow and green bottles on my sills together with a few colored flasks. It is impossible to trace the manufacturer if the bottle is plain. However, some are embossed with "Kiehl & Keefer, Lancaster, Pa." which should be easier to trace.

So even though I use plain, clear-colored jars to can my peaches, pears and plums, I do appreciate the variety of older jars.

Franklin Fall Farm Fest Offers Firsthand Learning

MERCERSBURG (Franklin Co.) – About 1,300 Franklin County fourth-graders and their teachers skipped school on Sept. 9 and 10 to participate in a hands-on lesson in agriculture at the Franklin Fall Farm Fun Fest.

Now in its ninth year, the Fall Farm Fun Fest provides a fun and festive atmosphere for learning about farming and the environment Organized by the Franklin County Farm Bureau, the event has grown from a one-day affair into a three-day agricultural extravaganza

"We expanded the event two years ago when we invited the Waynesboro School District to attend," said Anna Swailes, one of the lead organizers. "Last year, the Chambersburg School District joined in, and this year we hosted a total of five schools."

Students from the five schools – which also included Fannett-Metal, Tuscarora and Scotland School for Veterans Children – attended the event at Mercer-Vu Farms Inc., Mercersburg, on Thursday and Friday. The third day of Fall Farm Fun Fest, Saturday, was open to the public and included an optional tour of Bison Ridge Buffalo Ranch, Mercersburg.

"This is a great way for us to tell the farm story," Swailes said, as a group of energetic and excited fourth-graders walked into the calf nursery at Mercer-Vue Farm. Oohs and aahs could be heard as the children crowded around the calf pens, vying for a closer look at the black and white "baby cows."

The nursery was one of 16 "stops" the children made during their half-day visit to the farm, owned by Ron and Judy Hissong and sons Rick and Rod. The Hissongs milk 260 cows three times a day and grow crops on 700 acres. The family farm celebrated 50 years of business this summer.

Franklin County students and teachers learn how milk is stored in a bulk tank before being hauled by a milk truck to a processing plant.

During the stops, volunteers ranging from employees of local agricultural businesses and the Cooperative Extension to Franklin County farmers, explained the importance of the various phases of agriculture. The ringing of an old-fashioned triangle signaled it was time to move to the next learning station.

Local FFA members led the groups of school students, from station to station. The cows were a big hit, as were the straw bale maze, the milking center and lunch, complete with ice cream. A guided wagon tour took the children through the freestall barn, past the manure storage area and into the fields. Here the students learned about conservation practices and how farmers work to protect the environment.

These are lessons that Swailes and her husband, Bill, dairy farmers from nearby Willow Hill, realized are important to today's youth, many of which do not grow up on farms or do not have a direct connection to agriculture.

The Franklin Fall Farm Fun Fest aims to fill that void with its educational message delivered in a fun and festive setting. And it is a reason why farmers like Ron and Judy Hissong are more than happy to participate in the yearly event.

In addition to the Franklin County Farm Bureau, other sponsors included Mercersburg Chamber of Commerce, Franklin County Cooperative Extension, Franklin County Dairy Promotion Committee, Conococheague Future Farmers of America and Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce.

Taking Time by Rebecca Escott

How many times have you found yourself saying, "Oh no! Here we go again!"

Whether it's hearing grandpa's tales of his growing up years or your six-year-old's exaggerations about what a kid did at school, whether it's having the car breakdown for the umpteenth time or having your bank merge again–we can all find ourselves shaking our heads and gearing up to tackle, or sometimes simply endure, an event one more time.

For the past few months, my husband and I have been feeling some of those same feelings, saying, "Here we go again!"

We are expecting our second child this month and find ourselves digging through the attic to find infant-sized onesies, the bassinet mattress, and nursing equipment.

Our friends and family keep asking, "Are you ready yet."

Well the answer I think will be "No, not quite" until the moment actually arrives.

Infact, I find myself wondering if anyone is ever really ready for a child's arrival. Am I ready to tackle diapers again? Am I prepared to chase an energetic two-year old AND rock a wee one? Am I equipped to handle the sibling rivalry that will most certainly emerge at the most inopporunte times? I don't know.

I can say that despite the normal anxiousness of waiting for our baby's arrival, we are really excited about our growing family. Life is rich now, but we are convinced that it will be richer with another child.

Richer and more challenging. So I'm trying to practice all the things I preach daily to other parents in my educational programs. I'm trying to read, learn, and ask questions about a child's development and needs I am trying to ask for and accept help that is offered from others I am trying to go gently on myself with my expectations about how quickly thank you notes will be written, how spotless the floor will or won't be, how fancy our furniture and accommodations are for this new baby. I'm trying to preserve some moments of "couple time" with my husband so that our marriage doesn't get left in the dust of baby chaos.

Putting these principles into practice is difficult but worth it. Each time I make a good decision behalf of myself or my family, we benefit. These decisions also weave a legacy of example for my children. And I find that other moms and dads take strength from the choices that I make. Each time individuals see someone else making a positive, balanced choice for their families, it encourages others to do a similar thing. I am so grateful for the people around me who are making choices each day, giving me examples, of how to balance their responsibilities at home and at work.

One of the choices that I'm making is to take a year's leave of absence from my position with Cooperative Extension. This is a very difficult one because I LOVE what I do professionally. But I also realize that this coming year will be one that I can never recapture with my newborn. This decision is one that many families do not have the luxury of even considering because of financial constraints. I feel fortunate. So once again, I find myself saying, "Here we go..."

At times it feels like I'm leaping into something blindfolded. At other times, I'm like a little kid, struggling to wait for my turn on a favorite ride.

But when I get a breather, I promise to tell you just how exhilarating the trip has been!

Mayonnaise Or Salad Dressing?

COLUMBUS, OHIO — Mayonnaise and mayonnaise-like salad dressing are two similar but definitely different products. They each have their own "Standard of Identity" issued by the Food and Drug Administration and can't stray from those standards if their manufacturers want to call them "mayonnaise" or "salad dressing."

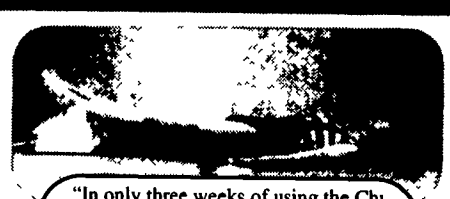
The two products are similar in that they are made from vegetable oil, an acidifying ingredient such as vinegar or lemon juice, eggs or egg yolks, and flavorings such as spices or salt. Mayonnaise must contain at least 65 percent vegetable oil, by weight, but generally contains anywhere from 77 percent to 82 percent. Mayonnaise-type salad dressing can have as little as 30 percent vegetable oil, but it must contain at least 4 percent egg yolk. (Mayonnaise generally contains 5.3 percent to 5.8 percent egg yolk.)

Finally, salad dressing contains a starchy paste, which helps thicken the product. The paste can be made from ingredients such as food starch or tapioca, wheat or rye flour. Mayonnaise contains no such starchy paste.

Homemade mayonnaise can be made by whisking together raw or slightly cooked eggs, vinegar and salad oil, but there is a slight risk posed by Salmonella enteritidis, the type of salmonella in eggs. Commercial mayonnaise uses pasteurized eggs. (Salad dressing, by the way, always uses a cooked base.)

Because of its higher oil content, you can count on mayonnaise to have a higher calorie content, too. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Nutrient Database, a tablespoon of mayonnaise contains 99 calories. A tablespoon of mayonnaise-type salad dressing contains 57 calories.

Mayonnaise has been around since the 1750s, with credit going to the French for inventing it. According to the makers of Hellman's mayonnaise, the product was the invention of a chef who wanted to make a sauce of eggs and cream, but found there was no cream in his kitchen. He substituted olive oil, and the rest is history.



"In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine, I lost 15 pounds effortlessly - and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg"

How do I use my Chi Machine?

* Place the machine on a rug Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine
* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire First time users should start with 2-5 minutes
* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side This movement will carry up through your legs and torso, throuthout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth - that's right like a fish swimming in water
* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes
* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow - chi - as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52"

4-H HAPPENINGS

Cumberland County's Evelhoch Monnett earn Master Showman

The South-Central Area 4-H Production Show conducted late in August at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds, was attended by exhibitors from Bedford, Franklin, Lancaster, Dauphin, York, Cambria, Huntingdon, Perry, Fulton, Lebanon, and Cumberland Counties.

Two members from Cumberland County earned a different type of top honors. Heidi Evelhoch and Kristi Monnett both earned a Master Showman Award, given to a 4-H member that the judge decides has done an outstanding job in grooming and showing their horse.

The 4-H production program is designed to teach and promote a positive approach to training and raising a foal from birth to four years.

The following Cumberland County 4-H Light Horse and Pony Club members qualified for the Pennsylvania State 4-H Horse Show in the horse production division. Each of the seven club members earned blue ribbons in their respective classes which qualified them to move on to the state level.

The State 4-H Horse Show will be at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg Oct. 8-10.

All of the classes were judged using a Danish system. This year's judge was Kenda Pipkin from Canyon, Texas. She judged the following horses with a blue ribbon, making them eligible to enter the state show.

•Carrie McLaughlin qualified to show "Call Me Sociable Too" in quarter horse colt or gelding of this year Carrie also qualified to exhibit "Sporty's Toucha Money" in the 4-year-old western pleasure futurity.

Other Cumberland County 4-H members who completed but did not qualify for the state show are:

•Trever Long earned red ribbons with "LA Sunday Preacher' in paint colt or gelding of this year, "LA Mister McGee; in yearling paint gelding, "Ultimate Pleasure" in 2-year-old paint gelding, "Dun By Credit" in yearling paint filly, and "HF Rosie Toyetta" in 3-year-old western pleasure futurity. Trevor also earned a blue ribbon with "Ultimate Pleasure" in the 2-year-old western pleasure futurity class, but two-year-old under saddle classes do not continue to the state level.

•Matthew Meals earned red ribbons with "Ciecel" in draft-type colt or gelding of this year, and with "Noah" in stock type yearling gelding.

For more information concerning this and other 4-H programs, contact the Cumberland County extension office at (717) 240-6500.

Ham Supper

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The Ephrata Mennonite School will hold its annual ham supper Sat., Oct. 9, from 3:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m. The full-course "all you care to eat" meal will be served family style at the Midway Reception Center, 201 E. Lexington Road, Lititz.

For advance tickets and information, call the school at (717) 738-4266. Tickets will be available at the door for a dollar more. Children 3 and under are free.

Penn State Professor Honored As Dairy Pioneer

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — John Almquist, professor emeritus of dairy physiology in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, has been selected to receive the prestigious 1999 Pioneer Award from the National Dairy Shrine, the "Hall of Fame" of the dairy industry. He will be honored at the 50th anniversary banquet of National Dairy Shrine on Sept. 30 in Madison, Wis., in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo.

Almquist is known internationally for his work in artificial insemination and reproductive physiologyk of cattle. He has authored more than 165 research papers in scientific and professional journals and proceedings, with much of his early work dealing with semen preservation and extending the usefulness of genetically superior sires through insemination.

Almquist was the first person to demonstrate the value of adding penicillin and streptomycin to diluted bull semen to control bacterial growth and increase fertility. Many techniques Almquist developed for cattle have been applied to other species, including humans.

Almquist, who served on Penn State's dairy and animal science faculty from 1944 until 1982, was an outstanding teacher and researcher, and established Penn State's Dairy Breeding Research Center. He shared the 1981 Wolf Prize in Agriculture — an award referred to as the agricultural equivalent of the Nobel Prize — for his work in artificial insemination for livestock improvement. His many other awards include the National Association of Animal Breeders Research Award, the 1998 Penn State Distinguished Alumnus Award and the 1998 National Award for Agricultural Excellence from the National Agri-Marketing Association.

Dauphin County Annual 4-H Fair Honors Members

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 19th Annual Dauphin County 4-H Fair was conducted Aug. 11-14 here at the Farm Show Complex.

This annual event is the culmination of the project year for the more than 2,100 members enrolled in 4-H in Dauphin Co. At the fair, each member has a chance to display what he or she learned and have their display evaluated. Awards are given to the members according to the quality of their exhibit.

"The 1999 fair was one of the largest fairs we have had according to Fred Rudy, extension 4-H agent. "This year we saw real growth in the number of home economics and general projects. Our sheep, goat, and beef shows were much larger. The addition of more of a benefit auction and door prizes really enhanced our Friday night program. The Discover in Motion activities continue to gain in popularity with the area of day care providers and families."

The most coveted awards at the 4-H Fair are the Clover Award championships. These are given to members who excel in a variety of areas. The 1999 winners are:

- Home Economics, Senior Division – Janette Krolczyk
- Home Economics, Junior Division – Lindsey Fackler
- General, Senior Division – Marie Cartwright
- General, Junior Division – Jennifer Hupkes
- Small Animal, Senior Division – Mandy McClain
- Small Animal, Junior Division – Tori Whitehaus
- Large Animal, Senior Division – Lynn Brandt
- Large Animal, Junior Division – David Neagley

10 AM SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1999

RIDGE FIRE COMPANY

Along Rt. 23, Between Phoenixville, PA and Rt. 100

Exhibition: Friday Evening 7-9 PM & From 8-10 AM Auction Day

If you attend this auction, we can give you a pretty good history lesson on Lionel up to 1970 and show you what the competition was doing to hang on to their market share. We can satisfy your desire for big, early locos (brass N. 54), treat you to a battle between the big beautiful blues (President's Special and Blue Comet), and show you a rainbow of red, orange, green, maroon, olive, peacock, and glistening black. Great passenger trains and long freight drags are here. Prime post war locos and cars round out the day. Post war condition is very high, we may have the rare items you seek. Great accessories also! A trip to our galleries will convince you that we are very serious about electric trains.

A 10% BUYER'S PREMIUM WILL BE APPLIED.

SPORTS CARD AUCTION

10 AM SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1999

Preview Friday 7-9 PM and 8-10 AM Saturday

. Along Rt. 23, Between Phoenixville, PA and Rt. 100

This is the 2nd of two sports auctions for a 50 year collection. Most items are baseball related to include sets and near sets from 1951 Bowman thru 1992 Topps. All sets and near sets up to 1973 Topps will be offered first as singles and series followed by an offering of the set or near set. The opening bid for the set will be approximately 10% higher than the total of the singles and the series combined. If the set is sold as singles & series, singles listed will not be included in the series lots.

Other items available will be pennants, Sixer's 1967 world champs, 1980 Phillies world champs, 1983 Orioles and Phillies world series, Dodgers, Yankees, Mets. 1982 Topps traded (2), 1984 Fleer Update. Sets for 1974 and up. Starting Line-Ups (Kenner), unopened boxes and packs to include five 1982 Topps football packs and four 1986/87 Fleer basketball (Jordan rookie). This is an outstanding auction for both collector and dealer. Send a SASE for a listing.

Warren County Fair Lists Show Winners

4-H Lamb Show

In only her second year of 4-H, 9-year-old Cayla VanOrd of Russell showed her 122-pound market lamb to grand champion honors. The reserve grand champion was shown by Heather York of Russell. Heather has shown 4-H lambs for seven years and has had two reserve champions during that time.

The heavy lambs caught the judge's eye, as both Cayla VanOrd and Heather York competed in the heavyweight class. Chad VanOrd placed third and Amber Hopkins fourth in this class. In the medium weight class, David Austerman placed first, Brad Woods second, and Dennis Foster third. The lightweight class was won by Keith Woods with Melvin Murvine placing second. A feeder lamb class was won by Renee Foster and Ben Foster placed second.

In the showmanship contest, Chad VanOrd of Russell won the junior division. Dennis Foster of Pittsfield won the intermediate class, and Heather York won the senior show. Other juniors who won blue showmanship awards included Cayla VanOrd, Ashley Coleson of Panama, New York, and Amber Hopkins of Sugar Grove. Red awards were earned by juniors Renee Foster of Pittsfield and Corry Coleson of Panama, New York. Brad Woods of Warren won a blue award for intermediate showmanship and Melvin Murvine of Youngsville won a red. Seniors Keith Woods of Warren, Ben Foster of Pittsfield, and David Austerman of Youngsville all won blue awards.

Many of the 4-H members were recognized for raising their market lamb from their own production ewe. Keith Woods, Brad Woods, Ben Foster, David Austerman, Dennis Foster, Amber Hopkins, Renee Foster, and Melvin Murvine all received this honor.

The 4-H Shamrock Sheep Club has been led by 4-H leaders Pat and Jack McMillen and Pam and Dale McMillen for many years. They have provided hands-on instruction to their members at their farm. They have also encouraged their club to do community service work such as planting flowers at the Warren County Fairgrounds, picking up litter along area highways, and packing food boxes for local charities.

4-H Hog Show

The 4-H Ham Handlers of Warren County had another successful year in 1999. Grant Allen of Sugar Grove won the grand champion honors with his 237-pound crossbred hog. Grant has been a 4-H pig club member for six years.

The reserve grand champion pig was shown by Sarah Scott of Bear Lake. Sarah's 280-pound pig was the top winner in the heavyweight class. Other placings in this weight class included Mary Jane Dore of Bear Lake, second and Michelle Dore of Bear Lake, third. The medium weight class was won by Grant Allen. Following him were Jeramy Eckman of Russell, second and Eric Swanson of Russell, third.

The lightweight class winner was Amy Rowley of Sugar Grove. Behind her was Jesse Salapek of Warren, second and Samantha Gibson of Youngsville, third.

During the showmanship competition, Mary Jane Dore won the junior division (age 8-11). Also placing in the junior class were Billy Dore, Eric Swanson, Tessa Swanson, and Bobbi Morris of Youngsville. Grant Allen won the intermediate (age 12-14) division. Heather Wilmoth, Jeramy Eckman, Michelle Dore, and Tricia Winans all placed after Allen. The senior division (age 15-18) champ was Amy Rowley followed by Jeff Rowley and Sarah Scott.

The pigs were also judged on their cleanliness and clipping done by the 4-H members. Top master fitters were Mary Jane Dore and Bobbie Moris in the junior group, Heather Wilmoth and Michelle Dore in the intermediate group, and Jeff Rowley and Sarah Scott in the senior group.

Each 4-H member also carried a production project during the 4-H year. The pigs were judged at the member's home prior to the fair. The grand champion pig was owned by Jeramy Eckman of Russell. Jeramy's pig has produced three litters of pigs and her last litter of seven were born two weeks before judging. The reserve grand champion production project was owned by Grant Allen of Sugar Grove.

The club point champion for 1999 was Jeff Rowley of Sugar Grove. The highest rate of gain award went to Tricia Winans of Spring Creek, whose pig gained 231 pounds in 100 days.

The Ham Handlers Club is led by Lynn and John Allen of Sugar Grove, Rose Dore of Bear Lake, Jeff Eckman of Russell, and Julie Fike of Warren. The club leaders stress community service by the members. Members donated books to the library, practiced recycling, provided holiday food and gifts to shut-ins, and lots more.

4-H Beef Show

The number of 4-H market steers was down this year at the Warren County Fair, but the quality of the animals was excellent. Fourteen-year-old Cayla Turk of Warren won grand champion honors with her 1,291-pound crossbred steer. Cayla has been exhibition beef cattle in 4-H for six years now, and this has been her second grand champion animal. The reserve grand champion was a 1,400-pound steer owned by Warren Carr of Sugar Grove. Warren has also been in 4-H for six years, and has shown both beef cattle and pigs during this time.

In the 4-H beef showmanship, Thomas Frank Carr of Sugar Grove won the junior contest. Thomas Frank is the younger brother of Warren Carr, and he is showing in his first year in 4-H. Warren Carr won the intermediate division of showmanship, and Jennifer Cornish of Bear Lake won the senior class. Other junior division winners included Kasie Carlson of Sugar Grove, Jason Cornish of Bear Lake, and Chad Carlson of Sugar Grove. The intermediate group had Erin Shamp of Bear Lake, Andrea Cornish of Bear Lake, Cayla Turk, and Rachael Swanson of Russell competing. Jared Bloomgren of Russell competed in the senior division.

Each 4-H member was given one hour to groom their animal in the fitting contest. Master fitters were Thomas Frank Carr, Warren Carr, and Jennifer Cornish. Jason Cornish, Cayla Turk, and Jared Bloomgren each placed second. Third place honors were earned by Chad Carlson and Erin Shamp, fourth place by Kasie Carlson and Andrea Cornish, and fifth place by Rachel Swanson.

The market steer show placings were Erin Shamp first and Rachael Swanson second in the lightweight class, Cayla Turk first and Jared Bloomgren second in the medium weight class, and Warren Carr first and Kasie Carlson second in the heavyweight class. The rate of gain award was presented to Kasie Carlson. Her steer gained 774 pounds in a little more than eight months.

Warren County has two 4-H beef clubs. The Bear Town Beef Masters is led by Melissa Nyweide of Bear Lake and the Kinzua Cowpokes is led by Lee Turk of Warren. Both leaders were active 4-H members at one time and share a wealth of knowledge with their members.

4-H, FFA Livestock Sale

The Warren County 4-H and FFA livestock sale continues to be the highlight of many 4-H livestock members, as they sell their market animals. The total number of animals sold this year was down but the quality of the animals was good.

The 1,291-pound grand champion steer, owned by Cayla Turk of Warren, was purchased by Hyma-DeVore Lumber of Youngsville for a price of $2 per pound, the 1,400-pound reserve grand champion steer, exhibited by Warren Carr of Sugar Grove, was purchased by Curtis Well Service of Sugar Grove for $1.80 per pound. The other four steers sold for an average of $1.88 per pound.

Thorne's BiLo supermarket of Warren purchased the 122-pound grand champion lamb of Cayla VanOrd of Russell for $4.10 per pound. Heather York of Russell owned the 99-pound reserve grand champion that was purchased by North Auto Crushers for $5.10 per pound. The other seven lambs sold averaged $3.88 per pound.

The grand champion pig owned by Grant Allen of Sugar Grove was purchased by Thorne's BiLo. Allen's 237-pound pig brought $5.40 per pound. The 280-pound reserve grand champion pig owned by Sarah Scott of Bear Lake was also purchased by Thorne's BiLo for a price of $3.80 per pound. Thorne's plans to donate the pork to the local Salvation Army. The average price paid for the other 12 pigs was $3.55 per pound.

Several longtime buyers donated animals back in support of the Warren County 4-H program. These included Blair Corporation of Warren, who donated two pigs and a lamb; Thorne's BiLo of Warren, a pig and a lamb; Crossett Inc. of Warren, a pig; and Briggs Transport and C & R Arabians of Bear Lake, a pig; National City Bank, a lamb; and John Allen Excavating Inc. of Sugar Grove, a lamb. Their total donations from resold animals amounted to more than $4,000. The conewango Aerie 313 F.O.E. Eagles Club purchased a steer, a lamb, and a pig that will all be donated to the Safe Place and Sharing Place of Warren County.

4-H Dairy Show

Seventy-seven dairy animals were shown by 28 4-H members at the Warren County Junior Dairy Show. The supreme grand champion of all the dairy breeds, grand champion of the Holstein breed, and champion best bred and owned animal was owned by Melinda Brown of Bear Lake. Her senior 2-year-old Holstein cow named "Candy" also won the senior champion honors for the Holstein breed. Melinda has been a 4-H member for nine years, and has won top honors before.

SPRING JUNIOR CALF: 1. Matthew Mitchell. 2. Jennifer Freeman. 3. Meggi Wilcox.

WINTER INTERMEDIATE CALF: 1. Eric Reynolds. 2. Cody Hitchcock. 3. Matthew Mitchell.

SUMMER YEARLING: 1. Sarah Lindell.

5-YEAR-OLD: 1. Kristen Hitchcock.

The reserve champion and reserve senior champion was the senior 3-year-old cow of Peter Vanco, Bear Lake. Vanco also had the best bred and owned animal. The Jersey junior champion was owned and shown by Kimberly Kalika of Corry. Her fall senior yearling heifer topped her brother, Curtis Kalika's winter intermediate yearling. Curtis received reserve junior honors for his heifer.

SPRING JUNIOR CALF: 1. Andrea Curtis. 2. Sarah Curtis.

WINTER INTERMEDIATE CALF: 1. Toni Gilkinson.

WINTER INTERMEDIATE YEARLING: 1. Curtis Kalika.

FALL SENIOR YEARLING: 1. Kimberly Kalika.

SENIOR 3-YEAR-OLD: 1. Peter Vanco. 2. Jesse Curtis.

4-YEAR-OLD: 1. Peter Vanco. 2. Jesse Curtis.

5-YEAR-OLD: 1. Toni Gilkinson.

DAM & DAUGHTERS: 1. Peter Vanco. 2. Kimberly Kalika. 3. Andrea Curtis.

Eric had a junior 2-year-old and senior 2-year-old Brown Swiss cows that he showed for senior champion and reserve senior champion. Eric also won the dam and daughter class and had the best animal bred and owned.

Toni won junior champion with a Milking Shorthorn fall senior yearling, and she won reserve champion honors with a winter intermediate yearling. Toni also placed first with a spring junior yearling, won the dam and daughter class, and had the best animal

Ohio State Joins Forces With Pork Producers' Task Force

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Finding new ways to increase Ohio farmers' take-home share of the retail pork dollar is the mission of a recently appointed task force headed by David Meeker, director of the Ohio Pork Industry Center (OPIC) at Ohio State University.

The task force is a partnership of OPIC and the Ohio Pork Producers Council in an attempt to stem the erosion of pork producers' income while retail prices for pork remain fairly stable.

"There is a real concern that the farmer's share of the retail pork dollar is shrinking," Meeker said. "How do you fight that?"

The task force was formed on the heels of last fall's pork crisis, which brought the worst farmgate prices for hogs since the Great Depression. Last November, farmers got 12 cents of every dollar that consumers spent on pork, compared to about 25 cents on the dollar during better times.

Farmer's shrinking share of the retail pork dollar is a long-term trend also. Almost three-decades ago, farmers made about 45-50 cents on the retail pork dollar.

"In the last 18 months, it has become more evident the traditional marketing system is not working for producers," Meeker said. "That adds an urgency to this.

"There seems to be tremendous producers' interest in doing something different. Farmers have lost a lot of money while consumer demand for pork has been at an all-time high, and the farmer's share of the retail pork dollar has been at an all-time low," he said.

The task force, formed in late July, will consider Ohio's limited slaughter capacity and the need for alternative marketing/processing methods that can return more money to the farmer.

Ohio's largest processor slaughters less than half of the hogs produced in the state in one day, Meeker said. Some farmers sell to local locker plants that slaughter about 100 head per week, while the great remainder ship to plants in Indiana, Pennsylvania or Kentucky.

In contrast, the newest state-of-the-art packing plants in North Carolina and Iowa kill 16,000 hogs in one shift, which cater to a generic commodity market. A plant with a 4,000-head daily volume could be ideal for Ohio in order to process a name-brand, value-added or specialty product that would allow farmers to retain a high degree of ownership of the final product.

"Even though we export hogs out of state, we don't have enough to support the needs for a large plant like the types built in North Carolina and Iowa," Meeker said. "What we've got to do is look at new options."

Options could be for farmers to produce value-added hogs for specialty markets, or to form a cooperative partnership between a packer and farmers. Another option could be a less-organized but entrepreneurial group of farmers who sell their own label in cooperation with a packer. Still another option might be a variation on the state's Ohio Proud marketing program for homegrown agricultural products.

The key is to position farmers within the ongoing trends of the business world, Meeker said. Those trends include vertical integration which allows companies to identify the source of unprocessed goods in order to maintain quality control standards and consolidation to achieve scales of efficiency.

"How do Ohio pork producers fit into this kind of an environment?" Meeker asked rhetorically. "How can they adapt to it?"

Meeker said there is a track record for successful producer cooperative ventures whose products are well-known to nearly all consumers. These include Ocean Spray, a cooperative of cranberry growers; Sunkist, an orange growers' organization; Danske Slagterier, a Danish pork producer cooperative; as well as almond, broiler, cotton and wheat producer ventures.

The Ohio task force's mission is akin to a larger initiative of the National Pork Producers Council, which wants to develop a national pork producers cooperative to expand U.S. slaughter capacity to meet a growing consumer demand for pork.

In Ohio, the pork industry overall is still relatively healthy, producing more than 3 million hogs per year, despite recent depressing prices, Meeker said. However, new directions are needed to maintain the industry's future health, he said.

"We're still in the top ten in terms of annual production," Meeker said. "We're still a serious hog state," Meeker said. "We want to stay that way."

Farm Bureau Opposes Delays In Clean And Green Program

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) strongly opposes further delays in the implementation of last year's amendments to the Clean and Green program. A Farm Bureau spokesman explained their stand Tuesday, Sept. 21 in testimony before the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, which was holding a hearing to consider requests for further delays.

The so-called Clean and Green program (Act 319 of 1974) is designed to preserve farmland, forest land and open space by taxing it according to its use value rather than the prevailing market value. It has been nearly seven months since the amendments to Clean and Green were signed into law as Act 156 of 1998.

"The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau strongly objects to any legislative effort that would delay implementation of Act 156," testified John J. Bell, PFB governmental affairs attorney. "Act 156 corrects the inconsistencies which have existed in administration and interpretation of the Clean and Green Act, and limits counties' ability to nullify the intended spirit of the Clean and Green Act through creative assessments."

Earlier in his testimony, Bell explained that one of the primary objectives of Act 156 was to make the necessary changes to "enhance uniformity in administration and interpretation of the Clean and Green Act among counties." Act 156 eliminated or minimized "the inconsistencies that counties exhibited in determining which lands are eligible for preferential assessment.... and what conditions counties may impose upon landowners in order for lands to be enrolled in Clean and Green."

The PFB spokesman cited eight specific sections in Act 156 that addressed inconsistencies in administering the Clean and Green Act. He explained that these changes were necessary and should be immediately implemented to ensure the tax relief to "persons, whose occupations necessarily require the ownership and use of large amounts of land."

Bell said that too often the Clean and Green Act is being used by counties to enhance county revenues, when in reality its objective is "to provide preferential assessment to give farmers tax relief... and discourage them from selling their land for development."

Two farmers, representing county Farm Bureau organizations, testified as to how the inconsistencies have affected the business of farming. Those testifying were James A. Vanblarcom, a dairyman and president of the Bradford-Sullivan County Farm Bureau and Barry Hetherington, a Schuylkill County vegetable grower.

PA Farm Bureau represents 27,400 families in 54 county Farm Bureaus. It is affiliated with the nation's largest general farm organization, the 4.8-million member American Farm Family Federation.

National Convention To Portland

PORTLAND, Maine — The 300,000-member National Grange will conduct its 133rd National Convention here in the Pinetree State from Monday, Nov. 8 through Sunday, Nov. 14.

Headquarters will be the Holiday Inn by the Bay at 88 Spring Street in downtown Portland.

The 12,000 members of the Main State Grange will host fellow members of the nation's oldest general agricultural organization for the week-long series of policy development sessions, seminars, workshops, committee meetings, and social events. Theme of the major national event is "A New Century, A New Grange."

"I commend the Maine State Grange and the City of Portland for hosting our 1999 National Convention," said Kermit W. Richardson, Master (president) of the National Grange. "We look forward to a week of fruitful discussions and work, as we embark on preparing Rural America for the challenges of a new century."

Richardson, a Barre, Vt. insurance executive and former state legislator, has been the organization's National Master since 1996.

In addition to developing national policies for the first year of the new millennium, delegates in Portland will hear the annual address of the National Master, exhibit and judge talent and crafts of National Grange members, and debate issues affecting rural America. Invitations are being issued to the governor of Maine, members of the Maine Congressional delegation, and to all Presidential candidates.

Keri Miller Exhibits Grand Champion Swine At Somerset Fair

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Keri Lynn Miller, 15, of Somerset had the grand champion swine at the Somerset County Fair Swine Show.

The teenager's face was wreathed in sunny smiles.

"I thought I would place," she said, "but I didn't think I would go this far."

Don and Debbie Miller are parents of the Country Clovers 4-H'er.

Gabriel Svonavec, 14, Rockwood, had the reserve champion swine, a 253-pound crossbred.

The Rockwood youth is a member of the High Ridge 4-H Club and the son of David and Betty Lou Svonavec.

The county bred champion belonged to Heather Will of Somerset. It was a 225-pound Duroc.

Their parents are Jeff and Linnie Will.

Hidden View Farm provided trophies, Somerset County Lady Shepherds the ribbons, and the Buffalo Creek 4-H Club, the trophy for "Somerset County Born and Raised Market Hog."

bred and owned. Tiffany placed second in the winter intermediate yearling class.

The Lineback show had five entries this year. Grand champion was a junior yearling shown by Emily Swanson of Russell. Swanson also had the reserve grand champion with a summer yearling. She also had the best bred and owned animal.

The dairy showmanship competition was divided into three age groups. In the senior group (age 15-18), Cassandra Nickerson of Corry won top honors. Also placing were Melinda Brown, Kristen Hitchcock, Jennifer Jones, Sarah Lindell, Kimberly Kalika, Drew Wilcox, Jack Jones III, Emily Swanson, and Tiffany Gilkinson.

The intermediate group (age 12-14) was won by Jon Nickerson of Corry. Following him were Andrea Curtis, Kelsi Wilcox, Jesse Curtis, Keturah Martin, Matt Mitchell, Eric Anderson, Crystal Gruber, and Cody Hitchcock.

Melissa Curtis of Columbus was the junior group (age 8-11) winner. Placing were Jennifer Freeman, Curtis Kalika, Marshall Johnson, Tom Labart, Sarah Curtis, Kari Hitchcock, Eric Reynolds, Matthew Gruber, and Meggi Wilcox.

In the dairy fitting competition Tuesday at the fair, master fitting awards were earned by many 4-H'ers. In the junior division, Tom Labart of Frewsburg, N.Y. won the top award. Also receiving master fitters were Jennifer Freeman, Melissa Curtis, Eric Reynolds, and Meggi Wilcox.

Andrea Curtis of Columbus was the intermediate age winner. Other winners included Jesse Curtis, Crystal Gruber, Keturah Martin and Jon Nickerson.

Drought's Income Effects Depend On Region

COLUMBUS, Ohio — With drought conditions as a backdrop, the 1999 cropping season was a year that Ohio farmers may want to forget, or else cherish, depending on where they live in the state.

Ohio State University agricultural economists and crop specialists agree that some fields in northern parts of the state could hit maximum yields. But farmers in southern areas will definitely swallow a bitter pill where an extreme moisture deficit may put per-acre corn yields in the low double digits.

Even though growing conditions tended to be more favorable in northwestern Ohio, that area saw a late-season dry spell that could have limited yield potential, said Ohio State corn specialist Peter Thomison. The extent of the effect depended on the growth stage of the crop relative to grain fill, he said. Corn that was further along probably wasn't hurt as much as the crop in earlier development stages.

The latest crop production report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates a 125-bushel-per-acre corn yield for Ohio, compared to 141 bushels per acre last year. Soybeans are estimated to yield 39 bushels per acre compared to 44 bushels per acre in 1998.

"Looking at the state average is deceptive," said Ohio State agricultural economist Carl Zulauf. "What is going on in this state is an incredible variability of yield."

Zulauf thinks corn and soybean gross income for the average Ohio farmer will decline only by 5 percent to 10 percent based on yield, expected harvest price, and the government's marketing loan rate that offers some protection. That's also not taking into account that Congress might provide more relief by increasing marketing transition payments within the framework of the 1996 Freedom-to-Farm legislation.

"For a state perspective, a 5 to 10 percent drop in grain income is a negative for the farm sector, but it's not a terrible situation," Zulauf said.

On the other hand, agricultural economist Allan Lines said farmers in drought-stricken areas will be bearing most of the burden of the gross income decline, which he estimates at 11 percent.

"It just depends on what your situation is and how good your crop is in your part of the state," Lines said. "Most of that reduction is absorbed by farmers without a crop in drought-stricken areas.

"The dollar loss I estimate at $220 million gets to be a pretty sizeable number if you're a farmer without a crop in places like Fairfield, Clinton and Pickaway counties where the drought hit hardest."

Lines thinks the USDA report released on Sept. 10 is a harbinger of worse yields to come. The survey for the report was based on Sept. 1 conditions, and "the condition of the crop grew worse after these estimates were made," he said.

Yet, the estimates were probably more accurate than usual for that time of year, Zulauf said. The crop was generally planted early, was reaching maturity very early, and had less chance for an unexpected yield drop due to an early frost," he said.

Weather problems in other parts of the Corn Belt prompted USDA to lower its national yields from its previous report in August. The national corn yield is pegged at 132.2 bushels per acre, or a drop of 2.5 bushels per acre since the August report. The 1998 national corn yield was 134.4 bushels per acre.

As for soybeans, USDA estimates a 37.9 bushel-per-acre yield, or a 1.3 bushel-per-acre decline from August. The 1998 national yield was 38.9 bushels per acre.

"The market already factored in these production numbers into prices by the time the September report was released," Zulauf said. "We've seen, at least in soybeans, a price increase of about 50 cents per bushel since the last report in August due to the decline in crop condition."

Lines was more cautious about any price relief, saying the markets reacted with a "yawn" when the Sept. 10 report was released. "Corn was down a couple cents and beans were about steady. I would have expected more of downward adjustment in corn and maybe even a little down on soybeans, but the market took the news of this report well. I think the run-up in prices is over."

Overall, USDA projects corn prices to range from $1.75-$2.15 per bushel compared to the 1998 average of $1.95 per bushel. The price range for soybeans was projected at $4.40-$5.20 per bushel, compared to an average of $5 per bushel in 1998.

The combination of drought-limiting yields in some areas of Ohio and overall low crop prices was double trouble to some farmers, said Ohio State corn specialist Peter Thomison.

"For some farmers, it's been a lose-lose situation," said Thomison. "Not only are prices down, but yields in drought-affected areas are abysmal."

In the worst cases, yields could be as low as 20-40 bushels per acre in the south, Thomison said. On some farms, the cost of harvesting the lowest-yielding fields could turn out to be more than the value of the crop itself, he said.

Overall, though, yield losses might be less than in past droughts due to the development of improved corn hybrids that can stand more stress, Thomison said. "We don't see the levels of barrenness that was more evident 10 to 15 years ago under these kind of growing conditions," he said.

Stalk quality may have been affected by late-season drought, Thomison said. Drought can result in weakened stalks because the plant remobilizes carbohydrates from the stalks to use in ear development. Consequently, plants with weakened stalks can fall down under the force of severe storms, which slows harvesting and results in the loss of ears on broken stalks that are bypassed by harvesting equipment.

As for soybeans, the season couldn't have begun any better as dry weather in April and May allowed an early planting, said Ohio State agronomist Jim Beuerlein. Stands turned out to be excellent almost everywhere in Ohio.

But early spring was the only overall good part of the growing season. The continued development of the crop depended on season-long rainfall—and some areas didn't get much—although other areas did fairly well, Beuerlein said.

"Most of the state was drier than normal," Beuerlein said. "Some areas had major drought while other areas had normal or above-normal rainfall. Generally rainfall has not been well distributed. The south and eastern areas are worse than north and west."

The consequence of drought was a harvest as much as two weeks early because hot and dry conditions brought soybeans to physiological maturity earlier than usual. Beuerlein said some fields were ready for harvest before Labor Day, which is unheard of in most years.

Probably the only salvation was the early harvest, which allowed farmers to forget the season's trials as soon as possible.

"Almost everybody is disappointed with the growing season, but they realized they did their best," Beuerlein said. "This was a situation over which they had no control.

As drought dried up the pastures in southern Ohio, some beef producers culled low-performing cows they would usually have sold in fall, said Southern Ohio Grazing Coordinator Ed Vollborn, Jackson County. A few producers might have also liquidated their herds, he said.

However, the drought's effects on beef production is hard to sort out at this point of the season, Vollborn said. On the bright side, the drought forced farmers to act on long-delayed decisions to change their production, he said.

"It forced people to make long-term decisions they had been contemplating over time," Vollborn said. "We're probably going to come out of it with higher-quality cows and higher-producing herds."

The drought also brought out producers' creativity in providing for their cattle's forage needs, Vollborn said. Some farmers seeded pastures with alternative forage crops – as varied as rye or turnips – to help cattle get through anticipated shortages.

As for overall hay shortages, Vollborn thinks there's enough hay in cash-hay producing areas of Ohio to help out the drought-stricken areas. An added problem is the cost of transporting hay to people who need it.

"I get frequent calls from somebody in Ohio wanting to sell hay," Vollborn said. "Personally I think there's enough hay in Ohio to go around, it is just a matter of being able to cash-flow the purchase and transportation cost."

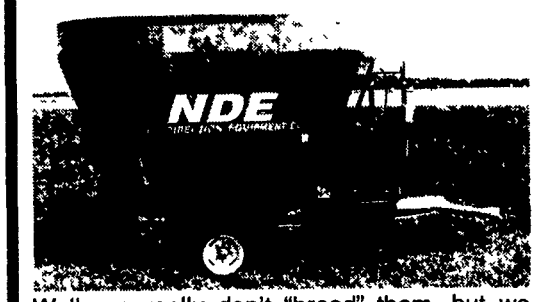
We Breed Champions, Too!



Well, we really don't "breed" them, but we feel each mixer that we produce is a champion in every way. We take great care in designing each machine before it is built. We also track each machine after it leaves our facility, making sure it is delivered to you on time, and ready to go to work the minute it is off the truck. We then follow the life of the Mixer, making sure that the customer is happy with the machine, long after the sale. If you want a company that takes as much pride in their product as we know you do in yours, give us a call.

JAY•LOR®

Putting The "Total" into TMR

THE JAY•LOR® VERTICAL FEED MIXER OPENS NEW HORIZONS IN YOUR FEEDING PROGRAM, OFFERING CHOICES AND OPTIONS THAT CONVENTIONAL MIXERS CANNOT MATCH.

With the ability to handle bales of any size and moisture content, the JAY•LOR puts the "Total" into T.M.R. Virtually all feedstuffs, including corn silage, haylage, grains, and concentrates are gently cut and mixed into a palatable total mixed ration. JAY•LOR mixers are designed with few moving parts, utilitizing heavy duty components.

New Case IH Grain Drills In Stock For Quick Delivery! The Goal: Uniform Seed Distribution

If you want precision seeding, you need a new Case IH 5300 Series Grain Drill from Binkley & Hurst Bros No matter if you plant small grain or soybeans!

The Game Plan: Case IH 5300 Grain Drill

- Exclusive diagonal-lipped fluted-roll seed cups ensure uniform seed distribution.
- Close-coupled maneuverability.
- Large-capacity seed hopper to cover extra acres between refills.

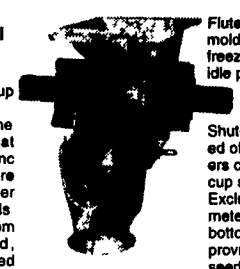
A Special Feature For All Case IH Grain Drills
Fluted Roll Feed Cup Assemblies Save Seed and Save Time A known fact that Case IH die-cast zinc alloy feed cups are superior to other competitive brands Long life comes from oil-impregnated, molded sintered metal inserts act as a positive bearing surface to surround and support the fluted roll



Fluted roll is precision-molded and won't freeze up during the idle periods

Shut-off block is molded of steel and delivers consistent cup to cup seeding accuracy Exclusive tapered metered edge at the bottom of the feed cup provides unexcelled seeding accuracy, even seed flow, and more uniform spacing

Large throat clearance allows the handling of big seeds and prevents seed damage

For replacement parts for your existing drill, buy Case IH quality from our Parts Dept. Now! Precision engineered to fit your grain drill exactly!

And you get more than a precision grain drill You can count on us for genuine, value-priced parts, professional and reliable service support, and flexible financing

CASE IH SUPPORT COMMITTED TO EVERY PART

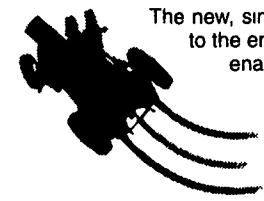
Industry Leading Turning Radius

The revolutionary chassis of the MX Series Magnum improves your overall performance and productivity In fact, the innovative Surround frame allows for the tightest turning radius in the industry, even with front duals!

Thanks to axle improvements, engine placement and a sleek hood design, the MX Series Magnum can easily turn into 12 30-inch rows with all row crop tire configurations on true 60-inch tread settings



The new, single-piece, sculpted, cast iron Surround frame is the key to the enhanced capabilities and performance of these tractors It enables the MX Series Magnum to offer the first factory front duals, dramatically improving both traction and flotation By balancing the chassis, we've significantly reduced the amount of front ballast required And the frame easily accomodates mounted chemical tanks or loaders, allowing you to perform multiple applications

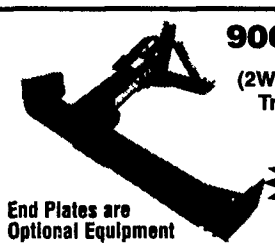
SE8
In Stock

The Rhino® SE8 is an economical rotary mower designed to help maintain larger acreages of grass, weeds, stalks, or material up to 1" in diameter.

The streamlined, close-coupled design allows economical operation on tractors as small as 30 horsepower on the SE8 and 45 horsepower on the SE10 The 85 HP center gearbox and 60 HP outboard gearboxes are protected from sudden shockloads by a slip clutch on the main driveline and torque dampeners on the side driveshafts. Pan blade carriers help the unit glide over field obstacles and updraft blades with a 4" blade overlap provide a clean cut.

900 BLADE
(2WD, 125 PTO HP Tractors Max.)



8 Foot IN STOCK

End Plates are Optional Equipment

The 900 blade is available in widths of 7', 8', and 9' and features a heavy-duty CAT I-II three-point hitch and CAT 11 quick-hitch The 9' model is rated for up to 95 PTO HP wheel-type tractors. Mainframe swing, moldboard angle, and moldboard tilt adjustments are easily made by relocating the index pins manually Maximum offset from the center line of the tractor is 30" for working outside dual wheels. The 900 blade features a 3" diameter solid steel kingpin and a reinforced 3/8" x 17" moldboard to with stand the horsepower of larger tractors. The circular moldboard carrier plate allows adjustments throughout the full 360 degrees of moldboard angle to help accomplish numerous jobs easily. The quick-tach end plates are a helpful feature when trying to move or level bulk material, including loose soil or gravel. Skid shoes, quick-tach end plates, CAT II quick coupler bushings, and a gauge wheel are optional equipment

PRODUCING HIGHER YIELDS BEGINS WITH THE PROPER GROUNDWORK

GLENCOE® SS7200/SS7400 SOIL SAVER®

For your primary tillage needs, nothing prepares your seedbed better than Glencoe SS7200 or SS7400 Soil Savers. These one-pass tillage tools feature a heavy-duty 6"x4" frame with the strength to stand up to high horsepower tractors and years of hard use.

Our adjustable spring-cushioned slicer gang is rock-shaft mounted for optimum bearing and blade protection Choose heavy-duty rigid, spring cushion or AutoReset shanks with twisted shovels or sweeps to match your conservation requirements For even more versatility, Soil Savers have working widths that range from 6 to 21 feet.

To get a closer look at the SS7200 and SS7400 Soil Savers, contact us today. Once you see how easy it is to build the optimum seedbed, you'll wonder why you didn't purchase a Soil Saver sooner

Match A Spreader To Your Needs

W Yourself Too Thin

Get Unmatched Flexibility At A Great Price.

With eight sizes to choose from and a wide variety of options, it's easy to see how the New Idea® 3700 Series Spreaders meet the needs of any operation Their aggressive, main beater paddles are strategically spaced and angled to shred a wide range of material while giving you a consistent spread pattern

Culvert-grade galvanizing over one-piece, copper-bearing steel sides provide a barrier against rust and corrosion And for hauling long distances, the truck-mount option proves to be the safest, most economical way to transport large amounts of material

To see how simple it is to customize your spreading operation, contact your AGCO® New Idea dealer today You'll be surprised how much time and money you'll save with the New Idea 3700 Series Spreaders

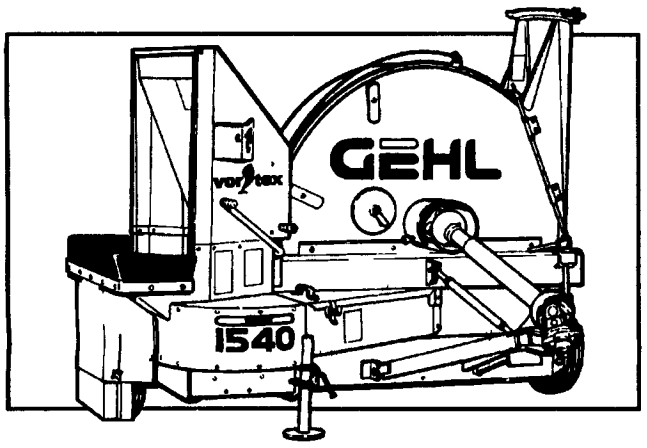
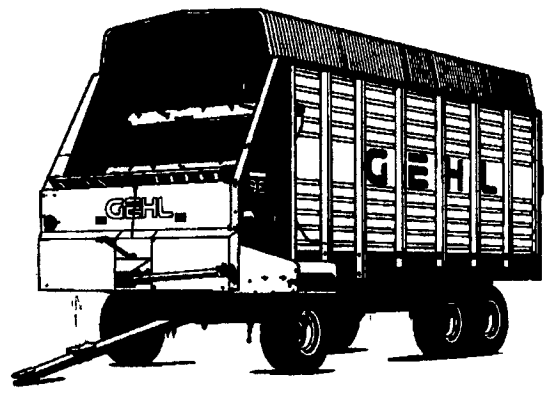
GEHL

"Vortex™" Blowers



If you need a high-capacity forage blower to fill your tallest silos, Gehl Vortex blowers will help get your silo-filling done in short order.
- Three models - Your choice of 540 or 1,000 rpm operation.
- Twin spinners - Rifle material into the blower fan at nearly 35 mph.
- Twin-sided fan disc - Paddles on both sides shoot the crop up the pipe in nearly continuous flow.
- Split rim sheets - Feature a replaceable inner liner for longer life and lower maintenance costs.
- Many convenience features - Swing-away blower outlet, air vents, adjustable left tire, right tire guard, wide hopper, removable tunnel covers and duals water inlets.

YOUR BEST FORAGE BOX VALUE



Gehl's new BU980 Self-unloading forage box has been redesigned for improved performance and durability. Features include:
- True variable-speed drive for infinite unloading speeds.
- Single lever control.
- Improved beater design.
- Stronger drive chain and reinforced roof.
- Standard highway light package.
- Optional folding 18-inch conveyor extension.

THE CENTURY IN REVIEW: AGRICULTURALLY SPEAKING

Sally E. Johnson, Ph.D.
Developmental Biology,
Assistant Professor Of Poultry Science

As the millennium draws near, it is appropriate to reflect on the past century and its accomplishments.

From an agricultural perspective, the century was marked by dramatic changes in the quality and quantity of food produced. It is interesting to note the type and style of large animal, particularly cattle, produced for slaughter in the early to middle portion of the 1900s.

Market livestock were often valued for their high fat content. However, consumer health concerns in the past 20 years have dictated the production of a leaner meat product. In turn, this trend has prompted the farmer to consider and utilize alternative feeding practices and feed supplements to not only improve carcass quality but also to enhance efficiency and profitability.

In the search for new methods of improving agricultural efficiency, researchers have begun to focus on genetic manipulation. The pros and cons of transgenics are numerous. Transgenics, in simple terms, involves the incorporation of a foreign gene into a plant or animal. The new gene can be expressed in the organism to elicit a desirable response.

For example, corn has been genetically engineered to produce an insecticide (Bt). Indeed, upwards of one third of the corn planted in the U.S. has been genetically altered in some way.

Can transgenics be applied to chickens in a production setting? Currently, the technology for the production of transgenic chickens is limited. Many of the necessary reagents are unavailable but are expected to be developed in the very near future. As the tools to create transgenic livestock become available, the question then becomes "Should we use the technology to generate transgenic animals?

From a practical standpoint, there is no reason to develop a broiler that expresses a foreign, growth-promoting gene. The cost of creating these animals would be exorbitant and sufficient progress can be made through conventional breeding schemes. Moreover, studies with mice have clearly demonstrated that foreign genes introduced into animals selected for rapid growth are unstable. The transgene does not produce a substantial effect and the gene is often lost from the gene pool after only a few generations.

While the use of transgenics is prevalent in crop production, and it might have biopharmaceutical value, it is unlikely that the technology will be applied to production animal agriculture. Both public perception and prohibitive costs will limit the creation of transgenic livestock.

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — Topeco Brook Peanut Butter, owned by Amanda Cole, Columbia Cross Roads, topped the Troy Fair Junior Dairy Show at Alparon Park, Tuesday, July 27.

The senior 3-year-old grand champion Jersey was named supreme champion over four other breed champions during the annual competition judged by Joy Crothers, Oxford, and Tom McCauley, Elizabethtown.

Named the reserve grand champion Jersey was Jamie Banks' Breezy Hollow Aerostar Blossom, who led the senior 2-year-old class. The junior champion Jersey was Breezy Hollow General Barb, a fall calf also owned by Jamie Banks. Taking the reserve junior champion position was Stans Diamond of Twin Towers, a spring calf owned by Rindy Harkness.

In the Holstein arena, Pennvale Encore Sheri, a junior 3-year-old owned by Eric Kenyon, rose to the top as she was named the grand champion of the show. Taking reserve honors was Greta Braund's Cha-Do Margo from the six years and over class. The junior champion Holstein, spring calf Tormack Bonfire Calypso, was shown by Chase Thomson. The reserve junior champion animal was Du-Mar Counselor Gwyn, owned by James Alderfer.

Amberleigh Yurkanin captured both the grand and reserve grand champion positions with her Ayrshires. Named the grand champion of the show was Laneways Festival's November from the six years and over class. Elm Brook Bonnie's Bambi, a junior 2-year-old, took the reserve grand champion position. Tony Carter exhibited both the junior champion Ayrshire, spring calf Shale Hill Heligo Sabrina, and the reserve junior champion, winter yearling Ayrstein Lovely Kate.

Elm Brook Trouba Paisley, a 6-year-old cow owned by Heather Yurkanin, was selected to be the grand champion Brown Swiss. Following her in the reserve grand champion spot was Michael Cole's 5-year-old, Victory Acres Legacy Alisi. Named junior champion in the Brown Swiss show was Abbie Kuhlman's winter calf, Victory Acres Naughty. The reserve champion of the show was Amberleigh Yurkanin's winter yearling, Elm Brook Ice Jocelyn.

Following is a list of show placings.

BUSINESS ❖ NEWS

Pa. Farm Bureau, Farm Credit Merge Accounting Services

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau has announced the merger of the Financial Management Services operated by the Ag Choice and Keystone Farm Credit associations with the Farm Management Service operated by Farm Bureau's MSC Business Services.

The merger takes effect on Oct. 1 and is expected to require an 18-month transition period. The new entity will retain the name Farm Management Service and will be headed by Michael Evanish, manager of the MSC Business Services.

"Our goal is to bring the best of both services together," said Evanish. "We will keep what we do very well and incorporate what Financial Management Services excels at and will go forward from there into a new and exciting future in service to agriculture."

The Farm Management Service has been providing on-farm business analysis, accounting, tax preparation, and planning for Farm Bureau members for 42 years. Its 38 Farm Management Service account supervisors serve 3,500 clients throughout the state. Financial Management Services provides farm record keeping, tax service, consulting, and some benchmark services for members of the Ag Choice and Keystone Farm Credit associations as well as non-members. Ten Financial Management Services specialists operate out of seven Farm Credit offices and serve 1,600 clients.

"The new entity will be the dominant provider of farm records and tax services in Pennsylvania agriculture," said Phillip Kimmel, president of Keystone Farm Credit. "The merger brings the part of our operation to an organization which is more focused on that business and doing it well."

In addition, he noted, the merger is the first step in a long-term alliance between Farm Credit and Farm Bureau in Pennsylvania that will benefit both organizations and their members. Mutual promotions and customer discounts are among the possibilities that will be explored.

"Farm Credit and Farm Bureau will be looking for many ways to work together in the future," said Kimmel. He emphasized that the alliance doesn't mean that Farm Credit, which operates 24 offices in Pennsylvania, will be getting out of the lending and leasing business. Farm Credit has $893 million in outstanding loans to 11,000 members in Pennsylvania.

An advisory committee, comprised of board members from both Farm Credit associations and Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, plus management and staff of both the Farm Management Service and Financial Management Services, will help guide and assure the success of the merger. "Our focus will be to make the transition as seamless as possible for end users," said Evanish.

Present users of both services will see little change for at least six months, Evanish said. "They will continue to receive the excellent services they have come to expect."

For the general Farm Bureau member, the merger will result in a larger, more powerful organization. Several hundred new members are expected to join Farm Bureau because of the merger. In addition, the merger will enable Farm Management Service to expand its data base for legislative support and research which will benefit the entire scope of Pennsylvania agriculture.

Barenbrug Northeast Hires Several

OGDENSBURG, N.J. — Barenbrug Northeast, with offices here, has announced the naming of a general manager and the hiring of several employees.

Michael F. Mulder has been named vice president-general manager of the company, located in Ogdensburg, N.J. Mulder has been associated with Barenbrug for 17 years. He most recently served in the United Kingdom as managing director, Barenbrug UK Ltd., where he introduced numerous varieties and mixtures of Barenbrug-branded products to the forage and turf markets.

Prior to his UK assignment, Mulled served Barenbrug in The Netherlands.

New responsibilities include introducing propriety varieties to the U.S. market and expanding the number of Barenbrug locations to serve company customers. He will also focus on the development of the forage grass market in the U.S.

Mulder is a graduate of the University at Arnhem (The Netherlands) and a member and fellow of the National Institute of Agriculture and Botany (NIAB) and the Sports Turf Research Institute (STRI), both in England.

Bas Barenbrug, interim manager of Barenbrug Northeast, has been promoted to general manager of its Belgium office.

Several new employees were also announced. They are Robert J. Macfarlane, Gwyneth A. Mansue, and John A. Carson.

Macfarlane has been named territory manager at Barenbrug Northeast. In this new position, Macfarlane is responsible for the marketing and sales of Barenbrug's proprietary lines of turf and forage grass seeds.

Macfarlane has more than 10 years experience in the seed industry, serving in sale and management positions. His territory includes New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine.

Gwyneth A. Mansue has joined Barenbrug Northeast as a marketing support representative. Mansue's responsibilities include providing market research and other support services to the company's sales and marketing team.

Mansue is conducting a survey of turfgrass specifications with landscape architects throughout New Jersey. She is a graduate of Rutgers University Turfgrass Program, where she earned a bachelor's degree in plant science. Mansue is also active in Rutgers' turfgrass breeding program, working as a research assistant to the program director.

John A. Carson has been named sales and marketing manager for the turf market at Barenbrug Northeast. Carson has joined Barenbrug after 17 years with J.C. Ehrlich Co. Inc. as division manager for Ehrlich's lawn and tree care services division.

At Barenbrug, Carson will initiate and implement the company's marketing objectives and provide leadership and training for its team of territory managers. His focus will be on developing Barenbrug's line of proprietary turfgrass species and varieties.

Unverferth Introduces Brent Grain Train Wagons

SHELL ROCK, Iowa — Unverferth Manufacturing Company introduced the 44 series of its Brent Grain Train® wagon.

The 44 series' exclusive chassis design features recessed undercarriage frame members which allow up to a 40 percent tighter turning radius for enhanced performance and steering component life. The field-proven, full-length, one-piece, centerline reach tube with extended-length rear hitch and industry-standard rear electrical outlet all assist in safer towing of multiple units.

The standard-equipment, spring counterbalanced, extendible tongue is now available with clevis or optional single-tang hitch for easier hookup and matching to the tractor drawbar. The single-tang hitch option also includes a ball-swivel for smoother starts and stops and is included with the tongue and rear hitch.

Industry-standard, length-adjustable wiring harness securely locks into place when attached, and automatically retracts inside the tongue when not in use for added life and durability. All units feature D.O.T.-approved flashing amber and red taillights for improved visibility and road travel.

Also standard is a high-intensity halogen light located above the door for more convenient nighttime unloading. Silicone-sealed seams, full primer undercoat, and choice of baked-on red or green high-gloss enamel finish provide optimum corrosion resistance and equipment life. Unloading is fast and complete with graphite-coated interior, steep-sloped "cornerless" box design and 60-inch unloading door.

Precise Seed, Fertilizer Placement With No-Till Hitch

SALINA, Kan. — Great Plains has introduced the Precision Fertilizer Hitch for use with three-point drills.

The hitch is available with two 200-gallon tanks for liquid-fertilizer application. A piston pump, plumbing, and fertilizer tines are available to customize the hitch for a wide variety of application configurations. The piston pump provides a steady stream of solution at variable rates from 5 to 80 gallons per acre. Orifices in the system manifold equalize the flow to each fertilizer tine. The fertilizer tines can be mounted for between-row application or in-row application below the seedbed.

The hitch is available in 15- or 20-foot working widths. All models are available in 6-, 7.5-, 8-, 10-, or 15-inch row spacing.

Kubota's Cab Models Offer More

TORRANCE, Calif. — Gone are the days when dusty hay harvesting or hot weather trouble the operator of a Kubota utility tractor.

Equipped with the latest Kubota engineering, new M8200/M9000 models may now be ordered with a climate-controlled, ROPS-certified, Kubota factory cab.

Surrounded by generous window space and frameless doors, Kubota's new cab provides good visibility. Even the bottom-hinge front wiper is well out of the way, so the driver's view is unobstructed.

Both models are equipped with an ISO-mounted flat deck and feature a tilt steering wheel. The throttle, main shift, and hitch controls are grouped in a right side panel for convenient access.

Dual-level air conditioning allows the operator to customize his work atmosphere. An adjustable deluxe reclining seat is comfortably padded, complete with armrests. Legroom is abundant thanks to the full flat deck and hanging pedals.

Hog Farmer Survey Examines Contract Farming

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio farmers involved in contract hog production aren't the oppressed, unhappy lot some have tried to make them out to be. At least that's what they told Ohio University agricultural economists in a recent survey.

"Contract farming is doing what it's supposed to do, according to this survey," said Luther Tweeten. "That is, taking some of the risk out of hog production. The problem is that too many people view contract farming as always being part of the mega-farm movement. In fact, much of the contract farming is by mid-sized family farms."

The scientific survey of about 250 independent and contract hog farmers compared their opinions on contracting and related environmental and production economic issues.

Results showed that those super-sized farms often associated with hog or other livestock contracting wouldn't be considered popular with anyone in rural Ohio. But contracting in a smaller farm situation wasn't a problem to those surveyed.

Independent hog farmers favored environmental regulation of large operations, as did about half of the contract producers surveyed. A large majority of all the farmers felt that mega-farms were a much greater threat to family farms than was contract production. In fact, Tweeten said, operations that would be called "family farms" by nearly any definition are counting on contracts to maintain or expand production to keep the next generation in farming.

Perhaps most interesting in the results was the fact that all types of farmers believed — two-to-one — that large livestock farms would lose if their existence was put up for a local vote. This should make farmers think twice before championing plans to allow local communities to make decisions on preferred farm sizes as a way to avoid broad-reaching state or federal regulation. The most cited objections to concentrated animal feeding operations were their threat to family farms, odor, and water contamination.

• Contract producers were about 47 years old – younger than the average Ohio farmer and the average hog farmer in the study. They'd also been in the business a lot less time — 17 years to 25 years of independent producers. Tweeten said this reflects the opportunity a contract gives new producers to insure the major investment it takes to get into farming. An assured income looks better to lenders than the uncertainty of other kinds of farm production. In this way, contracts lower a major barrier to entering the industry for young people, he said.

• Independent producers have a pretty high opinion of their efficiency and quality. That's despite the fact that they are adopting new production technology at a slower rate than other farmers. And while they seem to believe in what they're doing, they are most likely to think it won't be enough to survive in the business if they don't increase production.

• Producers believe they have a number of options for contract production of hogs. In other parts of the country there's been criticism that once farmers made the investment in facilities to do high-volume hog production they're stuck with one buyer who's willing to sign a contract with them. In Ohio, according to this survey anyway, producers claim two or three local options for contract buyers.

• Who those contract buyers are is also revealing. Much of the public attention has been aimed at the "problem" of a particular pork packer entering into a production contract with a farmer and tying up the production chain from birth to death of the hog. The survey showed that feed manufacturers are increasingly more likely to be the contractor in Ohio than are packers.

• Producers agreed across the board that all swine farms shouldn't be regulated regardless of size and manure management practices.

Tweeten said the study provides a snapshot of some industry attitudes at a time when things were particularly bleak. The survey was done in December 1998 and early 1999 when hog prices were hitting record lows. He was somewhat surprised that less than half of all respondents planned to cut production even in the face of that.

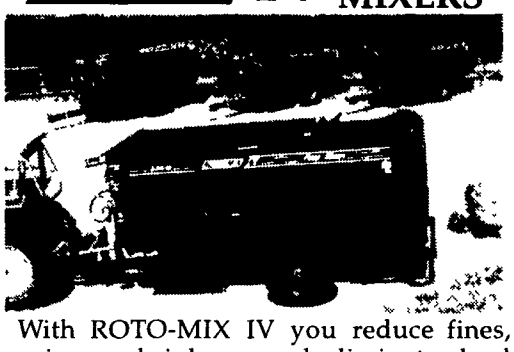
ROTO-MIX IV FEED MIXERS



With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots. The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.

The ROTO-MIX end-to-end... side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

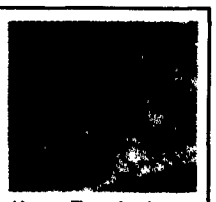
WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

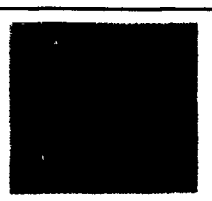
RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

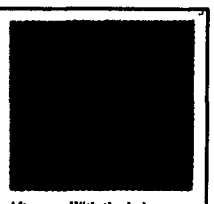


After . . . The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick tough surface will protect stored feed.

REPAIRS HOLES:
- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface



Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:
- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original

Before The bottom part of the stave's are completely worn away

"HI-MOISTURE SHELLED CORN"

You know the advantages of hi-moisture shelled corn versus dry corn for animal feeding. So now consider the MANY ADVANTAGES of POURED CONCRETE to store and protect your valuable grain.

Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel."

"Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-lab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement."

Everlast Roofing

Everlast II is galvanized heavier like old times; it is heat formed to prevent paint cracks; it is cut while hot to prevent early edge rust; Everlast paint is harder so it won't scratch as easy; won't bend or buckle as easy because of stronger design; laps are tighter and virtually invisible; nails/screws seal better because ribs fit tighter to fastener heads; zinc phosphate is used under paint which is much better than the chromate most competitors use. Crisp and attractive. Sharp colors. Excellent for houses and barns. Double dipped galvanized is proven best for animals. Standing seam is ideal for houses. Low prices, fast delivery

Lapp's Curtain System
Lapp's insulated curtains can help you make your farm more efficient. You can save up to 30% on your fuel'energy costs while maintaining a comfortable climate enables livestock to feed into live weight more efficiently, the curtain makes your barn warmer in winter and cooler in summer.
Our curtains are available in both 4 and 6 ply, both of which are faced with an impervious white vinyl layer which faces the elements. With all these benefits, the average payback is two years!
A lower cost alternative to the insulated curtains, are Lapp's single layer curtains. You still get all Ithe benefits of using a high quality curtain keep the elements outside and being able to lower the curtain to naturally ventilate in your barn.
We also repair other brand curtains.

B.G. 34

Perennial Ryegrass
Palatable • Profitable • Digestible • Proven
Up to twice the milk yield per acre!

A blend of 3 late maturing Ryegrasses for grazing. On our farm B.G. 34 had the least amount of seed heads. Makes milk, meat and fiber. Very, very palatable and digestible. Dairymen in the Midwest are raving about this one. Up to 10 lb. more milk per cow per day. Easy to establish, forms a dense sod. Very winter hardy.

Attention
Dairy, Swine & Poultry Producers!

New Products Now Available...

With the addition of our new soybean processing facility, we now offer these products to meet your nutritional needs. Manufacturing these products ourselves allows us to utilize locally grown soybeans and support our local agricultural community!

GOLDEN PRO 46 XP

This natural, mechanically extruded and expelled soybean product is experiencing great acceptance with local dairymen. A course golden colored meal with a 6% fat content, Golden Pro 46 XP is extremely palatable. Golden Pro 46 XP is a natural way to bring the value of high by-pass protein into diets that require a lower fat level.

GOLDEN MEAL 40

An 18 percent fat content along with a 40 percent crude protein makes this mechanically extruded meal product a valuable component in a variety of rations. Full fat content gives you a high level of digestible energy, while high temperature extruding ruptures the oil cells for better nutritional absorbtions.

CRUDE SOYBEAN OIL

A product of Keystone's expelling process, this oil can be used in a wide variety of on farm applications. A natural alternative to animal fats, this oil provides needed energy in various rations.

To make these products available, and to help you utilize your home raised soybeans Keystone Mills announces its

Soybean Exchange Program

As manufacturers and distributers of Golden Pro 46 XP and Golden Meal 40, we are anxious for you to try our products. We are offering a soybean exchange program featuring these quality nutritional products.

in Pet Store.

Millions of unwanted dogs are destroyed in shelters each year. Millions more are abandoned to suffer starvation, illness or injury before finally dying.
Responsible dog breeders breed for health, temperament and to improve the breed; they rarely make a profit.

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value

Eby products have superior standard features And we offer customer options for virtually any application Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

42 Acre Farm

Nestled in a quiet valley overlooking the Lehigh River, this circa 1783 log/stone colonial farmhouse retains much of its original charm. House features a large living room with exposed logs, dining room with walk-in stone fireplace, ultra modern kitchen with knotty pine cabinets, three bedrooms, full bath, full attic, basement with large stone fireplace, and an enclosed side porch. The two modern barns are both built on monolithic concrete pads. The 36x75 barn would be ideal for horses, and the 40x130 free-span barn could be used for an indoor riding arena. Highlights include large spring-fed pond which is stocked with fish, beautiful panoramic views and a great private location just 20 minutes northwest of Allentown in North Whitehall Township, Parkland School District. It's ideal for horses, cattle, sheep or gracious country living. Price: $295,000
